PROLOGUE

Conceivably time is the most difficult thing we try to control and deal with during our stay at Troy State University. In our attempt to learn, we often neglect to take time to observe our surroundings as they change and grow. We fail to appreciate the rewards of our jobs and various fields of study, because it is easy to lose oneself in them.

For this reason, time has momentarily been frozen between the covers of this book. Captured in the pictures and words within, it merely needs your imagination and memories to come alive. Enjoy . . . now and forever, for time remains in your hands.

Troy State

A university offering the opportunity to develop a speciality in a variety of fields which will later enable us to build our future. An atmosphere which stimulates creativity and curiosity, resulting in intellectual growth and social awareness.

Being in the "Heart of Dixie," TSU has the ideal location. It attracts a refreshing, diverse student population. Its history portrays a tenacious pursuit of excellence for the overall improvement of the university; thus, enriching the lives of all who attend both now and in the future.

Troy State University . . . our institution of higher learning. Our stepping stone to tomorrow. It is here we learn, grow and mature into talented, productive leaders who will determine the shape of things to come.

Photography by B. Scott

Location. Troy, Alabama, lies in what is commonly known as the "Heart of Dixie." But, living in Dixie does not necessitate listening to country music, wearing cowboy boots, and chewing tobacco. Moreover, being only one hour south of Montgomery and one hour north of Dothan, Troy's locale is ideal for those who want the peacefulness of a quiet town with access to the big city life. In addition, just two hours south, the Florida gulf coast welcomes visitors who love to frolic in the sun and surf on lazy weekends and spring holidays.

Troy's residents are full of that ever famous southern hospitality. They support TSU students, faculty, and staff enthusiastically in all of the cultural, civic, social, and church functions the school holds. Alumni from all around the area participate in all of the Trojan activities and even help recruit prospective students to Troy.

Highway 231 is the main strip through Troy and leads to other, larger cities. It accommodates students and residents alike with a variety of fast food restaurants and shopping areas. Just outside of Troy, the Pike County Museum brings back a thought of nostalgia to "metropolitan Troy" as its old decor reminds us of a past too easily forgotten and a future anxiously lying ahead of us.

Though Troy, population 15,000 is small in comparison to other university towns, its warm, friendly residents and its convenient location are merely two of the many reasons people choose to be a TSU Trojan.

Home is where you make it. Often, its love and pleasantness reflects the homemaker. Troy State students have made Troy, Alabama, their home and, in doing so, they have made TSU "Alabama's most exciting campus."

People. On your way to class on any day you see these unique Troy people. They are as different as night and day. You will find them in a variety of clothes: Greek-letter jerseys or concert tee shirts, mini skirts or walking shorts, cowboy boots or penny loafers. Just as they all dress in a different style, they have varying preferences, interests, goals, and dreams.

TSU people come from all over the state and country. We even have students from abroad. There are junior misses from Idaho and New York, athletes from Colorado and Enterprise, hometown "Troy boys," and foreign exchange students from Japan and Jordan. Although the majority of students live here in Alabama, many travel from Florida and Georgia.

Individuality . . . that is what bonds Troy State people together. A campus full of individuals. Yet, being so, it does not necessarily mean everyone cares only for themselves. Moreover, Troy is lucky enough to have a friendly, inviting student body. You very rarely pass someone on the sidewalks without saying "hi." Everyone exchanges smiles and hugs. This is why the popular song "My Home's in Alabama" by the hit artists Alabama holds such a deep meaning for all TSU people. Once you have experienced the unique, special Troy way, nowhere else can quite compare.

History.

Troy State University traces its origins to two small buildings in downtown Troy when it first opened its doors on February 18, 1887, as Troy State Normal School. Shortly before 1930, it became Troy State Teachers College, thereafter moving to its present location which now occupies 433 acres.

Troy State, as it is known today, continued to grow at a rapid pace, offering its first B.S. degree in 1931. As the needs of society changed, the goals of this institution progressed to complement and facilitate such changes. The present name was authorized by the Alabama State Board of Education in 1967. Since that time, the university has expanded to serve a variety of educational needs and to welcome a diverse student and faculty population.

Alumni Hall, where men residents are housed, accommodates over 800 male students and has been the largest dormitory thus far constructed in lower Alabama. Kilby Hall, the oldest building on campus, still stands proudly on University Drive and represents Troy State's history as it struggled to become one of the Southeast's finest universities.

Though TSU remains one of the leading schools of the area, it recognizes a continual need to progress in all areas and to offer its students a well-rounded curriculum and modern facilities with which to learn; thus bettering itself and its students. Its history reveals a well trodded path leading to a future which serves the larger community and its needs.

The College Life

The Color, The Excitement, and The Classes?

The college life — high school students try to imitate it, alumni long for it, others say that it's just not for them! Balancing a social life with an academic schedule often affected a student's emotional stability. Although the town of Troy did not always provide the entertainment that a college town implies, there was usually always something to do.

For many students, the weekend began on Thursday nights. If not at the frat houses, then many party-goers hit places like the Front Porch and O'Reilly's. Dry Rush gave new opportunities for party-goers who chose not to drink.

Nothing could match the excitement in the air when Trojan football got underway. The Sound of the South band graced the field at half-time and the crowds went wild at the sound of "Dixie." The Troy/Jax State game was the usual highlight of the season, and Troy's victory left fans in a frenzy. Prior to the game, parachutists dropped on the field and gave an added touch to an already enthusiastic crowd.

Showtime, the prelude to Trojan basketball, gave class and excitement to Sartain Hall. The baseball team's trip to California for national play-offs kept the campus chattering.

Spring brought with it warm weather and a massive exodus to the beach. The beautiful colors of the campus in full bloom was rivalled only by the bright colors of rows of bikinis and one-piece bathing suits at Hamil, Gardner and Pace "beaches."

Campus life gave many students the privilege (is that the right word?) to live in the dorm. Being thrown into a cubicle with a total stranger who plays AC/DC at 2:00 a.m. gave many students a new change of scenery. After the first two weeks of changing from room to room, one finally finds a compatible room-mate who shares the same bad habits as his own. Then the room slowly makes the transformation from a prison cell to a collage of posters, furniture, and dust-collectors. Some students felt dorm life was equivalent to "the college life" while others insisted on making the move off-campus.

With dorm life came the dreaded cafeteria food. SAGA became a hot spot, not necessarily because of the quality of food, but rather because it provided a place for rapping during meal times. For those who opted for fast-food, the hang-outs included Crowe's, Wendy's, and the newly built Burger King.

To many college students, the essence of campus life was getting involved in extra-curricular activities. Whether student government, publications, service organizations, or honor societies, the opportunities were there for the choosing.

A major part of fitting in on campus was learning the language. Each university had its own choice of buzz words and phrases that coeds picked up on easily. Even cliques within TSU had their own symbols and lingo typical of college life. Phrases like "Get a real job!" "Get a clue!" "Get over it!" and "I'm scared of you!" were part of daily conversations. A popular commercial used for a play on words was "Where's the beef?" Anyone who was not knowledgeable of the language needed to "get a grip."

Fun, fun, fun! That's the stereotype college lifestyle. Unfortunately one cannot obtain a BS in fun and "get a real job!" That's where the coin is turned and we see the other side — classes.

Classes ranged from the dreaded 8:00 class, generally filled with zombies, to the much avoided night class (taken only if necessary.) Or for the less serious student, classes were attended only on test days and finals.

Dead Week was designed to allow students time to dedicate themselves fully to their studies before final exams. Dead Week could be evidenced by bags under the eyes, circles around the eyes, and a glassy look that made on-lookers wonder just how many nights had been spent at the Front Porch. Obviously, it was time for some TSU coeds to "wake up and smell the coffee." The library was standing room only.

The college life — for some it was the best four years of their lives. After all, Troy State does have the label of being "Alabama's Most Exciting Campus."

Legends and Myths of Troy State

Legends are stories coming down from the past, especially those popularly regarded as historical, although not verifiable. The legends of Troy State are few but colorful, many not necessarily the whole truth, but rather based on true stories. One such example is the "Ghost the Presidential Mansion."

Dr. Frank Ross Stewart became president of Troy State University in 1961 and held the position until his death in 1964. It is rumored that the ghost of Dr. Stewart, who suffered a stroke while sitting in the dining room of the mansion, can be described as a typical ghost, if there is such a thing. His footsteps can be heard as he roams the house, certain pictures hang crooked on the walls no matter how many times they are straightened or where they are hung, and doors mysteriously open and close by themselves.

Another typical legend is that of "Ol' Bullet." He was a very old and faithful friend to the TSU students of the 1950's. He was, supposedly, a philosopher and humanitarian who happened to enjoy the atmosphere of this small southern college. Perhaps it should also be mentioned that "Ol' Bullet" was of the canine persuasion. Yes, "Ol' Bullet" was a dog. But, to the students of the 1950's he was a legend, and his story is indeed special.

In the late 1950's there came a rabies epidemic that swept through Troy, Alabama. The epidemic was of such large proportion that the Troy City Council passed a city ordinance allowing policemen to shoot stray dogs on sight. "Ol' Bullet", although he did not have the disease, was one of the dogs shot. TSU students became angry over the death of their friend and rallied to have the ordinance revoked. They boycotted classes, staged demonstrations, and marched to city hall to speak with the mayor and council members.

Their efforts were not in vain. The ordinance was revoked a short time afterwards. Although their mission was successful it did not bring their friend back from the dead, or did it?

Legend has it that "Ol' Bullet" was very grateful to the students and showed his appreciation by making brief appearances around the campus.

Not all TSU legends are historical. In fact, most are more mythological than legendary. Myths are traditional stories pertaining to historical events that serve to explain a belief, practice or natural phenomenon. Many of TSU's myths begin at a typical pre-orientation. Pre-orientation leaders sometimes tell their freshman groups the story of "The Amphitheater."

The third step of the TSU amphitheater is said to possess certain powers of persuasion. If a young man proposes to his sweetheart while she is sitting on the third step of the amphitheater, she will be compelled to accept his proposal. However, the young man must possess a true and sincere love for his betrothed or else the magical powers will not hold sway over her.

Another typical orientation myth is the "Troy State Wall." Legend has it that in the spring of the year when the flowers and trees bear their leaves and blossoms, spirits of by-gone TSU students rise and roam freely about the campus. At the peak of spring quarter activities, these spirits gather at the Troy State Wall to show their love and appreciation for TSU.

Every spring the Troy State Wall, which is located along the side of the Bibb Graves building, mysteriously begins to go through a phenomenal change; The clinging ivy that grows alongside the wall begins to spell out the words Troy State. When this feat is accomplished the small pink flowers of the ivy come into full bloom.

Probably the most popular myth on campus is that of "Sally Shack." There are several versions of the story but the one most popular is the one in which Sally is jilted by her lover.

Sally Shackelford was, supposedly, the youngest and most beautiful daughter of Dr. Edward Shackelford. She lived on the third floor of Shackelford Hall. She came to Troy State to be with her boyfriend, who during his freshman year became a football hero. Her boyfriend let his athletic success go to his head and began to spend less and less time with Sally, and more and more time with the head cheerleader. Sally's suspicions about her boyfriend's fidelity were confirmed when she caught her lover in the arms of another woman. Her heart was broken and she suffered an emotional breakdown. A few days later she was found hanging from the third floor stair rails of Shackelford Hall.

It is said that Sally Shack, as she is now called, still occupies a room on the third floor, and that she sometimes roams the hallways in the early morning hours searching for the love that she so tragically lost.

Myths and legends are fun to read as long as one remembers that they are only stories. They are just stories . . . aren't they?

SHACKELFORD HALL

A Year Set Apart

1983-84 was a year of achievements, challenges, victories, and defeats. All culminated to make the school year much the same as other years, yet set apart.

In the entertainment world Michael Jackson will surely be a name that lives forever. At the Grammy Awards Michael walked away with eight of the coveted awards. His album "Thriller" sold 32 million copies world-wide and became the best selling LP of all time. The Police topped the charts with "Every Breath You Take" as the number one song for 1983. Boy George of Culture Club both shocked and fascinated audiences with his unique look. "Colour By Numbers" pushed out hit after hit.

The movies "Flashdance" and "Footloose" took two approaches to dance, but both made hits as movies and pop chart smashes. Count Basie, the Dean of Jazz and Swing, died April 26, 1984 of cancer in a Hollywood, Florida hospital.

On the prime-time scene such shows as the "A-Team" and "Cheers" ranked high, but it was the prime time soaps that took the ratings. Thursday nights were reserved for "Knots Landing," where Valline, who had written a successful book, found out that she was pregnant with Gary's child. Abbey and Gary tied the knot and Abbey is still trying to tie up everything he owns. There were two Nielson favorites on Friday nights. On "Dallas," Pam finds out that Mark is dying and decides to marry him so that he can die a happy man. Miss Ellie is planning her wedding date, but J.R. is trying to keep her dream from coming true. Another hour of excitement follows as "Falcon Crest" comes on the screen. Julia has finally escaped from prison and is out to kill. Melissa after giving up her son finds out that she can no longer have children and is trying desperately to get him back. Chase was declared the rightful owner of Falcon Crest. Maggie survived brain surgery, but who survived the last episode's plane crash?

The day time soaps were just as exciting and captivated a wide variety of faithful fans. Beth and Phillip finally got together on the "Guiding Light," but Beth left Phillip at the altar. Will Jim and Claire ever find a cure for the Dreaming Death? "All My Children's" Jenny and Greg got married and Cliff and Nina got back together. On the NBC soap "Days of Our Lives," Roman and Marlena got married and Stephano was found to be alive. Liz was thrown into jail for shooting her lover's wife. The "General Hospital" fans saw Laura come back to the show and Luke and Laura reunited.

This winter found our Olympic team in Sarajevo, Ugoslavia for the 1984 Winter Games. Bill Johnson won the gold in the downhill and Phil Mahre won the gold in the slalom, while his twin brother Steve took the silver in the same event. Scott Hamilton won the gold in the men's skating competition and Rosalyn Sumners won a silver medal in the women's skating competition.

In the world of tennis John McEnroe won the Masters. Mike Rozier won the Heisman Trophy, one of the most coveted awards in college football. The University of Miami stunned the nation and became the number one college football team in America. The Washington Redskins suffered the agony of defeat on Super Bowl Sunday as the Los Angeles Raiders won the game 38-9.

While professionals battled it out on the field, many Americans fought the "battle of the bulge." Running, working out, and other physical activities continued in popularity. Richard Simmons proved that aerobics could be both rewarding and fun.

During the Christmas season Cabbage Patch dolls and Stompers were among the hot items to give a special small (or large) loved one. The personal touch was also evident as many people turned to the craft of cross stitching as an idea for gifts.

Somehow George Orwell's concept of 1984 is still a fantasy, although partially fulfilled. Hopefully, Big Brother will always remain in a book. Regardless, 1983-84 will remain in our minds much the same as other years . . . yet set apart.

1983-84

Working as a disc jockey at WTBF is both a hobby and a job for Michael Lewis.

Getting Experience Now

College is often thought of as a place for students to undergo four years of intensive study to prepare them for the "Working world." With strong emphasis on prior work experience, Troy State students took advantages offered them while in school to get experience now.

One such student, Michael Lewis, obtained a job at a local commercial radio station, WTBF, to help prepare him for a degree in broadcast journalism. The freshman from Alexander City, AL explained, "A part-time job in radio (is) excellent because it helps condition a person to the kind of life that a broadcaster will lead, especially a news reporter. You learn quickly not to expect a normal work day schedule as you find yourself being frequently called in at unholy hours to work. Radio is easier than television and so a better choice in which to begin for broadcasting students."

Tim Beasley, a junior broadcast journalism major from Dothan, AL found the campus TV station a valuable work experience. Tim's title of technical director at WTSU encompassed technically directing from the control room during airing by telling what shots to get, when to roll the tapes, and when to punch the chromokey shots such as weather graphics and names over pictures. Tim explained his job as "similar to an air traffic controller; I make sure everyone is in synch."

Tim explained working at WTSU-TV as "very good experience for anyone working in broadcast. We may not reach as many people as, say Channel 12, but the news is just as important. We treat ourselves as a commercial station and cover all the events in Troy. Most schools don't have the equipment that we have."

Business students were given the opportunity to get first-hand experience in the business world through a course entitled Small Business Institute. Mr. Joseph Creek, Director for the Small Business Development Center, selected cases referred by the Small Business Administration and hand-picked students whose majors fit with individual cases. Mr. Creek explained, "The business benefits from the expertise of the students, and the students gain practical experience."

Patsy Haws, Ronnie Wiggins, and Chris Stroud worked on a SBI course which dealt with a large office supply dealer in Southeast Alabama. The three-member team interviewed accounting professors, computer marketers, and local CPA firms in an attempt to evaluate their firm's accounting system. This also involved conducting an anonymous telephone survey to local businesses questioning them about their accounting systems.

Patsy Haws from Brantley, AL found the course beneficial from both seeing a practical business in operation and working as a team. "(SBI) helped me through working with group members to get things done, working on time schedules, and setting our own goals."

Ronnie Wiggins felt his decision to take SBI over Policy and Decision Making was a wise choice. "I learned more from an actual case where answers are not cut and dry. Answers don't always fit together like they do in books."

Another department which emphasized professional experience prior to graduation was Troy State's School of Education. Ms. Virginia Watson, Director of Professional Laboratory Experiences, explained the purpose of the program, "Our internship program gives hands-on, professional experiences. During the internship the students can use what they have been taught in courses in a practical, realistic setting. The intern is guided by an experienced, qualified supervising teacher."

Cathy Bruce, a senior English and Political Science major from Waycross, GA gained professional experience through her internship at Charles Henderson Jr. High School. Cathy taught eighth grade students in English and History. Cathy's motivation for teaching was "feeling that I will have an influence on the lives of our next generation, the people who will run the country when we're old and gray."

Ms. Bruce's quarter of teaching was both "eye-opening" and rewarding. Cathy explained, "I learned more in these three months than all the years in textbook studies"

Ms. Watson noted that

Jennifer Colley gains professional experience at Edge Memorial Hospital.

Troy has no trouble placing their interns and graduates. Troy's School of Education Professional Laboratory Program has been cited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Educators as one of the seven best schools in the nation.

Nursing students began participating in practical job training upon entering the program. During the junior year, each student spends two days a week in a six-hour clinical working in the hospital. Each nursing student was assigned to individual patients with problems relating to the subject they were covering at that time.

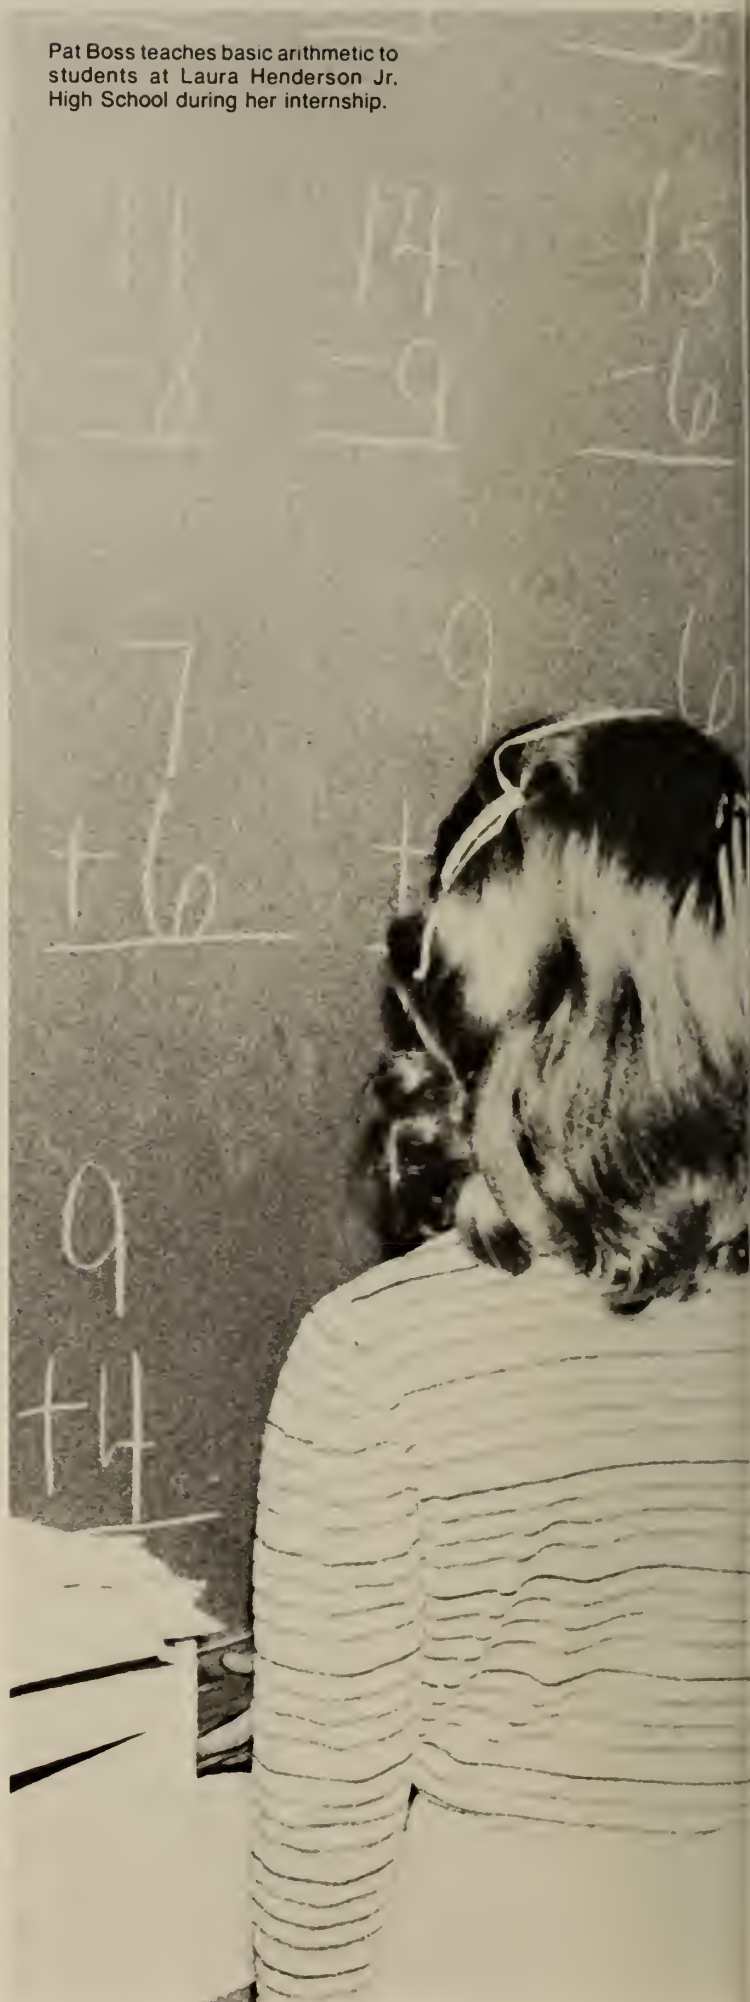

The senior year for the nursing student became more specialized with less teacher involvement and more "on-your-own" situations. Each student was required to do a preceptorship his or her last quarter involving 48 hours each quarter under an RN. The preceptorship provided the transition from clinical to the "real world."

Wendy Milam, a senior from Millbrook, AL did her preceptorship at Jackson Hospital in Montgomery on the medical surgery floor. Wendy had total care for three or four patients each day. Wendy felt the preceptorship "builds confidence in yourself and improves your skills."

Kim Clark, a senior nursing student from Huntsville, AL explained the uniqueness of the nursing program, "Day by day you incorporate the things that you learn." Wendy Milam further commented, "We (nursing students) have an advantage over other students who haven't worked in their major because we've worked in the real world."

Bringing The World To Troy

The world is filled with people as diversified and as colorful as the rainbow. And Troy State is lucky enough to have foreign students representing at least thirty-one nations. We are able to live side by side with foreign students, despite racial differences and sometimes language barriers.

The reasons that foreign students come to Troy State are as varied as the nations represented. Troy State has scholarships for students in England and Japan. Students who have shown excellence in academics and character have been chosen by their country to receive a scholarship to study at Troy State for a year.

Other students who desire to go to college find themselves studying for a year in order to pass a difficult college entrance exam, which may be taken only once. Many foreign countries also have a quota as to the amount of students entering college. Once the school is filled, the student must look elsewhere. Schools in the United States provide many more opportunities and areas of study that students would not find in their own country.

Students who have written away for information on colleges receive a book with a list of colleges. Alabama is usually listed first. The climate and reasonable tuition is appealing to most students.

On the humorous side, foreign students are often asked why they came to Troy State. One student said that he came because his envelope had been stamped as saying, "Alabama's Most Exciting Campus."

For most foreign students, coming to study in the United States has been very rewarding. And we, as Americans, were able to get a taste of the world without even leaving our homes.

Hanging Out

Everybody has a favorite place that they like to go, to relax and spend time with their friends. Most people hang out at some time or another. Some people stop on the sidewalks and talk, some congregate in the halls, and others visit in their dorm rooms.

Hanging out is a great way to waste time between classes or while getting a snack. TSU has a campus full of people who love to talk. The Adams Center is always filled with people. Upstairs in the study areas is a great place to get some studying done or just visit with your friends. Downstairs, the Adams Center provides activity in the gameroom or around the mailboxes. The snack area always has a lot of people who are taking a break and getting something to eat at the same time. Lori Langston enjoyed spending time in the break area next to the Adams Center game room studying, snacking, and just "shooting the breeze."

Although the library may be thought of as a haven for the studious elite, actually it is a great place for socializing. Breaks between studying often result in long conversations.

SAGA has made more than a reputation for serving food but also as a coed hang-out. Many students arrange their schedule around a 12:00 lunch to take a much needed break from classes.

Schedules were also arranged to include time gaps for watching favorite soaps. TV rooms became congested during times for favorite soap operas such as "General Hospital" and "Days of Our Lives."

Hanging Out is something that everybody does. Hanging out does not take any preparation or planning; it is something done because people enjoy seeing and relaxing with other people.

THE ISSUES

A college has connotations of forums for the intellectual elite. Although not necessarily true, issues are rampant, but getting students involved was sometimes a major task.

The Student Government Association elections were one excuse for students to fight apathy and back their candidate for office. Fer-Rell

Malone, Rappy Perez, and Tracy Osmer campaigned for the position of SGA President in a long, heated race. Literature was distributed along with promises as the candidates went door-to-door and to each of the organizations to win approval and votes.

The Political Forum gave students a last chance to ask questions, and gave candidates one last chance to cover the issues. Such issues as visitation, food service, parking space, financial assistance, and student involvement were addressed.

Each vote counted in a close race which resulted first in a run-off between Tracy Osmer and Rappy Perez, and Osmer was elected the new SGA President.

National attention was given to the Democratic primary in which Walter Mondale, Gary Hart, and Jesse Jackson struggled for the ticket to the Presidential election.

Political issues were not the only talk among students. An interdenominational Christian organization and a local church sponsored an apologetic seminar on campus entitled "Contemporary Issues for Contemporary Christians." Such topics included medical ethics, Feminism, and war. The seminar was designed to "confront critical issues challenging the 20th century Christian."

Another area in which TSU students voiced their opinion was in heritage. The Afro-American Society recognized the month of February as National Black History Month on campus. The itinerary included "Black Political Reality Day," a salute to black women, a voter registration day, and "Black Entrepreneurs Day."

As Afro-American Club President Fer-Rell Malone explained, "This event was not just to inform blacks of heritage, but everyone, of the history which has been suppressed."

The concept of celebrating black history began in the 1920s with Black History Week. In the 1940s this cultural happening expanded to Black History Month. With the introduction of Martin Luther King's birthday as a national holiday, black history will be celebrated beginning in January and lasting through March.

Fer-Rell explained that history books often neglect pertinent facts about black achievements. In a country that stresses white supremacy, blacks can educate and motivate their children to take pride in their heritage.

Fer-Rell pointed out, "If you go to France then I am an American. I am acknowledged here as a Black American." As Martin Luther King once said, "Judge me by the content of my character and not by the color of my skin."

Issues — political, religious, heritage, campus, or whatever — were given wide attention on Troy State's campus. One needed only to jump in and "go for it" to get involved in the issues.

Those Crazy Days of Final Exams

Feel the tension in your neck. It aches as your blood-shocked eyes close tight and your head drops slowly to your Western Civ. book. Your body is drained and your brain is filled to capacity. This is the story of one survivor of the dreaded, inevitable Final Exams.

Final examinations were held at the end of each quarter, and for many students, the grade earned in a class was dependent upon the score made on the final exam. For some students, Dead Week was the first time they got serious about studying. For the more conscientious student, days on end were spent on one final to achieve that 3.0 for the quarter.

Debra Nash, a student worker, noticed that the library was fuller during Dead Week and during exams. Teresa St. John admitted that she spent a lot of time in the library studying because the library was quieter than studying in the dorm.

The Adams Center was another hot spot for group study because quiet restrictions were not enforced.

The pressures of final exams were handled in many ways. One popular way of "surviving" exams was eating. Cindy Womack from Luverne admitted to eating a lot, especially junk food, during exams. Teresa Williams, from Pleasant Grove, AL used the "Double D" as her outlet for frustration. Twila Ryan from Robertsedale, AL depended on Vivarin to get her through exams. Frances Gable, a native of Leeds, AL took a break during exams by walking to the lagoon and feeding the ducks.

Final exams were not only a hardship on the students, but also put pressure on professors. Instructors were often forced to squeeze two weeks of lecture notes into three days of class. Mr. O'Neal, Chairman of the Math Department, said, "Final exams are necessary for students' development. I give comprehensive exams so the students can assimilate everything as a total unit."

Regardless of the outcome of finals, students had one thing to look forward to — the break. As Angela Boutwell said about final exams, "I'm just glad when they're over."

Fashion: Emphasizing the Individual

This year the main emphasis in fashion was placed on individuality. The traditional styles that had been part of the college campus for several years were replaced by a more individual expression. The concept of expressing yourself through your clothes was accepted and practiced by the college student.

The denim look also took on a new meaning. New designs and styles were added to the basic denim jeans to complete the new approach. The denim skirt and jacket were additions that gave a variety to the already established look.

Active wear played a leading role in this year's fashion. Comfort was not the only consideration as style moved into the scene. Sweat suits were not only used for exercise but were adopted as an essential part of the wardrobe. Today's sweats on the college campus have broken out of high school's long gray line and moved to a more dynamic look. Colors ranged from snappy red and cool blue to neutrals from black to white. These bold colors dominated all of the year's fashions.

A move back to the fifties was seen through the higher waisted pants tapered toward the hem. The sleeveless muscle shirt which was a fifties reflection made a strong appearance on the college campus. One designer referred to the popularity of the dark sunglasses as "making a comeback landing right on the leading edge of fashion." Also making a comeback was the all cotton apparel. Sweaters, shirts, skirts and slacks were made with more cotton for comfort and practicality. The loose fitting style in sweaters and shirts was worn by many students showing a carefree and easy style. Belts and sashes were an added accessory which was used to accent many different styles.

The punk rock look brought with it a totally new and different flair in fashion. This new look was a way for many students to express themselves through creativity and individuality. Uniqueness was the key word in describing the punk look. Hair style was also important in completing the punk look. Fashions for the year were reflections of personality and individuality. Through the many varieties of fashions on campus, a student had little difficulty finding the style that best expressed his own taste.

Angie Williams, Tonia Spolton, and Joan Huchie model Sandy attire in which they won the 1984-85 fashion design contest. The contest was held by the Auburn Fashion Club. The winners were Angie Williams, Tonia Spolton, and Joan Huchie.

The denim look worn by Neal Anderson and Christie Gregory added a new approach to the basic denim style.

Mimi Carpenter and Mark Tallant model a popular style of dress frequently seen on campus.

Suzanne Studstill and Robert Guyton model some of the fashions seen during the winter months.

The punk look added a new flair to fashion. Robby Jaye, Judy Rhoades, and Todd Hutsko show some of these new styles.

Trivial Pursuit

It is sweeping the campus . . . but, even if it wasn't, it is sweeping the nation. It's not a new food, it's not a new style of dress . . . it's a game! "Games are for kids!" you say? Not all games.

The game is called Trivial Pursuit and it sells for about $30 retail. Quite a large investment to "play with" but one which trivia fanatics do not hesitate to part with.

Trivial Pursuit is a board game. The object of the game is to acquire plastic pieces to complete your pie. Pieces are awarded when a player lands on designated areas and correctly answers a question. Questions are in reference to sports, entertainment, history . . . trivia of all kinds, depending on the version of the game which you are playing.

Now, perhaps we haven't captured your interest. You think that this game is just a revised version of Go To The Head Of The Class. Well, think again, and think hard. Have we got some questions for you!

What TV movie took its theme song from "Foggy Mountain Breakdown?" What letter is on the hot water tap in France? What is the second most intelligent mammal in the world? Who made George Washington's false teeth? What two countries border the base of Biscay? If you didn't answer "Bonnie and Clyde," "C," the dolphin, Paul Revere, and France and Spain, you were not right. And wrong answers will get you one place in the game Trivial Pursuit . . . Nowhere!

This year's students looking for a real challenge found it in a board game. And they'll be the first to tell you that Trivial Pursuit is definitely not "child's play."

Weekends

"EVERYBODY'S GONE SURFING" . . . across TSM! Well, they might not be surfing, but they are headed for the beach! The weekend has come, or maybe it hasn't come just yet, but they can smell it in the air or feel it in their bones . . . it's a beach, it's a party. It's a BEACH PARTY!

Whether it was Fort Walton, Panama City, or Pensacola Beach, Troy State students knew where to find the water, the sand, the fun, and the rest of the school. And when one could not find the students in class spring quarter, one knew that they had gone looking.

Now parents may get a little upset and wonder what their kids are doing soaking up the rays in Florida when they were sent to study in Alabama. Aw, come on Mom and Dad, a little extra study in Marine Biology never hurt a kid. And besides, WE didn't build the beach so close to the University. You can get to the beach in a shorter time than it takes to get through registration lines.

The best part about a beach party is the group of people you go with. You enjoy everything about the beach and "getting out of Troy" but you love that fraternity, sorority organization or group of friends you are with. They just make going to the beach a fun experience. Of course, the sun helps to do that, too . . . and many students had the sunburn to prove it.

Even seniors were dumb enough to get burnt after a weekend at the beach. If not by the burning rays of the sun, then by their teacher on Monday who "tanned" all the sunworshippers with a pop quiz on Friday's lecture.

TROY STATE FOOTBALL

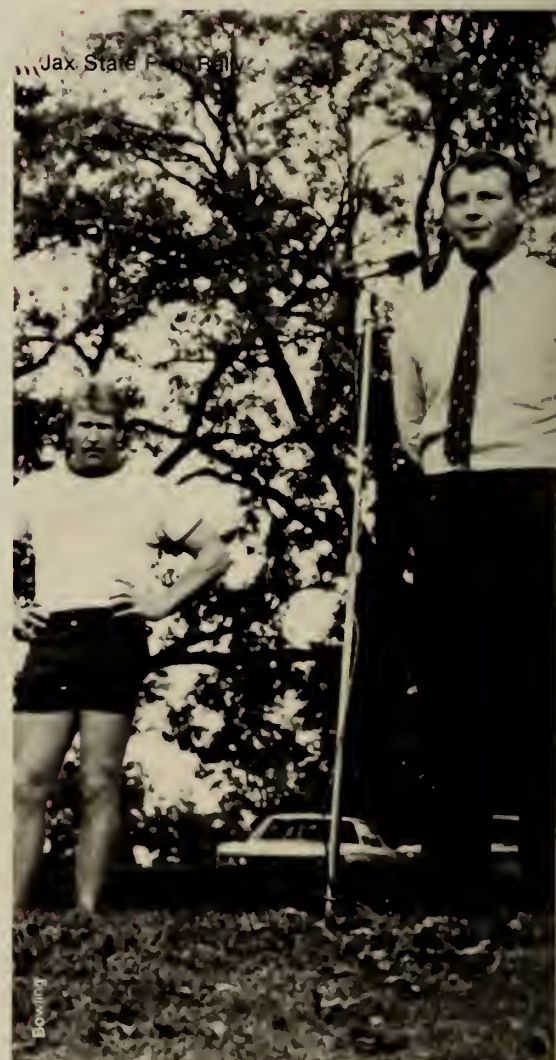

The Men Behind The Lines

Head Coach

Chan Gailey

A new era began during the 1983 football season with Chan Gailey serving as Troy State University's eleventh head coach. "Do everything the right way" was the slogan that Coach Gailey and his staff chose. Hard work, great effort, enthusiasm, and discipline defined the right way. The new coaches organized a new system that began in January and ended in November. Winter workout, spring training, and the fall regular season combined to form the system. Looking back on the year, Coach saw the highlights as a combination of many things, not simply as the wins or the losses. "The overall team attitude and the Senior's leadership were tremendous. We won our first 4 games. Then we lost 4 of the next 5; nevertheless, the team showed their unwillingness to die and won the last 2." Coach Gailey continuously praised the coaches and the players for their contributions to the successful program. "The team unity, and their attitude plus the common goal of each player to be the best that they could be were all factors to success." Finally, to Coach there is no one plan to a successful program. "Winning takes the intangibles, working hard, and pushing during the week, plus playing real ball on Saturday to win the game of football."

Troy State Cheerleaders

"Troy's Got That Ramma Jama" is one of the popular Troy State chants that summarized the squad's cheering year. Each one of the squad members worked extremely hard throughout the year to enhance Troy State's sports season. Whether the Trojans were winning or losing, these cheerleaders worked hard in order to keep the players, the coaches, and the fans' spirits high. Their various stunts, tumblers, chants, and cheers, all added a special flair to the playing arenas. Each Troy State cheerleader utilized his own spirit, dedication, and talent to benefit the "Ramma Jamming" Cheering Squad.

The fun of being a Troy

State cheerleader began in the Spring with tryouts. Each contestant was judged by a selected panel of qualified judges. Each contestant performed stunts, tumblers, chants, cheers, and a routine to our theme song, "Dixie". Five boys and five girls were selected for the new squad. The new squad took the summer off, and they began the Fall enthusiastically. Their pride was high for the Trojan teams. During each game the cheerleaders led the fans in various cheers, chants, and routines. Throughout the year the TSU cheerleaders with their "Ramma Jama" spirit added a special effect to sports at Troy State.

The Making Of A Trojan

Football was one of the South's favorite pastimes during the 1983 football season, as huge crowds gathered each weekend to enjoy the game. While watching the action, the fans witnessed only the four-quarter, fifty-six minute games that were the finale of the college football season. They saw only the finished product; moreover, they never realized the preparation and time that went into the game. For these fans football began in September, but the season originated in January for the

Troy State football team.

Coach Gailey, along with the other coaches, began their preparations for the 1983 season Winter Quarter by organizing an extensive weight and training program. The eligible players, returning from Fall break, were divided into three different groups according to the size and strength. All team members lifted weights, ran sprints, and performed quickness drills to increase their endurance and speed. The winter program served to establish a competitive team spirit as well as to condition them for the upcoming spring training.

Spring training for the Trojans consisted of almost 3 weeks of intersquad practices. The offense learned the wishbone, while the defense learned the "50 Over-shift". Both squads were grouped into opposing sides for the annual T Day Game on March 12. The Red team defeated the Whites, 14-6. The Reds scored first when Ted Horstead rambled six yards up the middle. Donnie Van Wie hooked his extra point attempt wide left. The White team rebounded with a 16-yard pass play from Carey Christensen to Rufus Cox. Yong Ho Gilroy's extra point was good. At halftime the Whites led, 7-6. The only second half score occurred when Jimmie Haywood rumbled up the middle for a TD. Gilroy's extra point was good, making the final score, 14-6.

Beginning in August the players returned from summer layoff with a new spirit and determination. Each Trojan endured 3 weeks of 2-a-day practices, while preparing for the opening game. Troy State learned to execute game plan strategies and practiced to refine each segment to the new offense and defense. Both the offense and the defense were shaped into a polished team that ended the preseason drills with the hopes of overcoming the previous 2-8 losing season.

During the 1983 football season fans packed Memorial Stadium to cheer their new team. Each player had worked hard under the new system in order to become a winner again!

TSU/Georgia Southern

TUSKEGEE — 33-6. The Trojan's season opener against Tuskegee was a game of firsts. This game was the first historical meeting between the two teams. The Pepsi Cola Company sponsored its first Pepsi Challenge Bowl. Coach Gailley had his debut as Head Coach. Finally, the team combined to have its first season opening win since 1980. Tuskegee scored first on a 43-yard pass play, but they missed the two point conversion. Thomas Clark picked off a Tiger pass and scampered 24-yards for the score. Donnie Van Wie boot-ed the extra point, and later kicked a 33-yard field goal to end the first half. In the second half the Golden Tiger's punter fumbled the ball and Jeff Sowell recovered it in the end zone. Van Wie's extra point made the score, 17-6. Ted Horstead's 1-yard plunge ended an impressive scoring drive in the third quarter, and Donnie Van Wie kicked the extra point. J.R. McKinnon hit Lee Hollingsworth on a 5-yard TD pass and Yong Ho Gilroy's extra point was blocked. The scoring ended with a 35-yard field goal by Gilroy.

TSU/Mississippi College

NICHOLLS STATE — 33-6. The Trojans used a punishing ground attack to outscore the Colonels at Memorial Stadium. TSU opened the scoring when Gerald Mayfield raced 29-yards, and Donnie Van Wie kicked the extra point. Nicholls' first score came as their Quarterback, Keith Menard threw an eight yard pass, and the extra point was good. Our second score came when Carey Christenson threw a 13-yard strike to Tommy Dugosh, and the extra point was blocked. The Colonels added 10 second quarter points with a 35-yard field goal and a 2-yard run by Menard. To begin the second half Jimmie Haywood sprinted 80-yards to give the Trojans the lead for good. Van Wie booted two third quarter field goals. TSU's final points were when Christensen tossed a 45-yard bomb to Carl Smith. The Trojan defense spent the remainder of the game keeping the Colonels out of the end-zone, and their comeback effort fell short.

TSU/Tuskegee Institute

VALDOSTA STATE, 13-12.

TSU opened its bid for the Gulf South Conference title match up with the Blazers. To open the scoring, Ted Horstead plunged in from the 1-yard line, and Donnie Van Wie booted the extra point. The Blazers came back and scored on a 4 and 1 conversion attempt at Troy's 4-yard line. Clarence White blocked the extra point. TS fumbled twice deep in their own territory, but the defense held its ground. Valdosta scored on a 9-yard run and the Trojan defense stopped a 2-point conversion attempt. Troy State ended the scoring with an 8-pass from J. R. McKinnon to Carl Smith. The fourth quarter began with an 8-yard run by Doug Brown, and Gilroy booted the extra point. The Eagles with a late comeback effort scored on a 5-yard run. The Trojan's defense stopped their try for the two-point game winning conversion.

MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE

TSU with a 4 and 0 record and ranked 7th in the week's NCAA Division II Poll traveled to Clinton, Mississippi to face the 2nd ranked Choc-taws. Many factors contributed to the Trojan's upset. Mississippi College rambled for 378 total rushing yards to the Trojan's 122. Troy gave up the ball 6 times including 5 fumbles and 1 interception. Troy missed two field goals of 37 and 30 yards. Even with the 17 point deficit, there were some exciting moments for the Trojans. Mississippi College drove to the TSU 3-yard line, but they were stopped short of the plain by a tremendous goaline stand. This game was a big loss for the TSU team; nevertheless, they showed pride, class, and courage to become winners again.

SOUTHEASTERN LOUISIANA, 15-34.

Troy State lost a second disappointing game to the Lions. The Division I-AA team piled up 17 unanswered points to defeat the Trojans. The Lions scored first on an 80-yard run. Then, they kicked a 23-yard field goal, and three quick passes gave them a 3rd score before halftime. In the second half, Troy Drove 45-yards to set up a Donnie Van Wie 39-yard field goal. A SLU linebacker intercepted a Trojan pass from J. R. McKinnon and scampered 25 yards for six. TSU drove 94-yards and scored on an 11-yard pass play from J. R. McKinnon to narrow the gap.

yard run by Carey Christensen. The team's 2-point conversion attempt was shot. GEORGIA SOUTHERN 28-27. TSU traveled to Georgia with a record of 3-0. Troy State scored first on a 7-yard option pass from Dwayne Thompson to Lee Hollingsworth. Yong Ho Gilroy's kick was good. Troy widened the margin when Ted Horstead ran for 69-yards for our second touchdown. Once again Gilroy's kick was good. Georgia Southern opened their scoring on a 5-yard run and the extra point was good. The Trojans scored again on a 10-yard

TSU/Nicholls StateTSU/Valdosta State

The attempted pass play for the 2-point conversion was incomplete. Once again the Lions deflected a Troy State pass and raced 45-yards for their final TD. TSU gained some pride by accumulating a 52-yard scoring drive. Carey Christensen scored from the one yard line. The 2-point conversion failed.

DELTA STATE, 26-21. The Trojans ended a 2 game losing streak with this victory over the Statesmen. Delta State scored first with a 1-yard run, and the extra point was good. Then TSU scored when Doug Brown raced in from the 1-yard line. Troy's second score was a 21-yard field goal by Donnie Van Wie. The Statesmen scored again on a 66-yard pass play. The TSU Trojans came right back with a 58-yard pass from J. R. McKinnon to Carl Smith. TSU then booted a field goal after a big fumble recovery. Finally J. R. McKinnon scored a touchdown from the 3-yard line and the conversion attempt failed. TSU spent the remainder of the fourth quarter stopping a Statesmen comeback attempt. Finally Delta State scored on a 1-yard run. Troy stopped their 2-point conversion to win the game.

NORTH ALABAMA, 21-42.

Homecoming 1983 was special at TSU. Parades, parties, reunions, and the crowning of the queen all combined to form the festivities. This year the homecoming game was televised on CBS. Once again, turnovers hurt the Trojan's chances for a big victory. The unbeaten and 6th ranked Lions turned each of these into first half points. The Lions scored four times during the half to take the lead 28-0. The score mounted 35-0 before TSU made a comeback attempt. Quarterback Carey Christensen, the CBS player of the Game, scored from the 2-yard line. Donnie Van Wie booted the extra point. Our quarterback Carey Christensen scored two more times on 1-yard runs for an additional 12 points. Donnie Van Wie's PAT was good. Despite this big loss Troy State remained 5-3 and 2-2 in the Gulf South Conference. Troy set their goal for the remainder of the games, "to evaluate themselves in order to make the team perform better."

TENNESSEE MARTIN, 14-17.

Martin, Tennessee was the setting for the Trojans eighth game of the season. UTM scored first when they dove in the endzone from the 1-yard line. Then Jimmy Haywood returned the kickoff 47-yards, and 7 plays later Christensen scored from the 16-yard line. Troy had another magnificent goal line stand with 1:18 remaining in the half, by stopping the Pacers on the TSU 3-yard line. The Pacers scored again when their quarterback threw a pass for a 79-yard touchdown. Doug Brown scored again for Troy on a 1-yard run. Finally, with 2 seconds left in the game, Tennessee Martin kicked a 27-yard field goal, breaking the tie.

LIVINGSTON, 35-23. Troy State defeated the 6th ranked Tigers in a key Gulf South Conference match-up. Troy took advantage of 2 costly turnovers in the first quarter. Carey Christensen hit Carl Smith for a 5-yard touchdown, and Donnie Van Wie kicked the extra point. For our second touchdown, Ted Horstead crashed over the goal line for the one. Van Wie booted the extra point. Livingston came to life with a 29 yard "TD". Van Wie's kick was once again good. TSU Quarterback — Christensen threw a 35-yard touchdown pass to Carl Smith and Donnie Van Wie kicked the extra point. Livingston narrowed the gap with a 34 yard field goal. Our next score came when Greg Walls rambled for 8-yards. The Tigers scored again on a 3-yard pass play. Christensen scored TSU's final six points on a 6-yard run. The Tigers attempted a late comeback effort on an 8-yard pass play. Their try for a 2-point conversion failed.

JACKSONVILLE STATE, 45-3. Troy State ended the season with a blast by devastating the Jax State Gamecocks. TSU exploded for 471 total yards to give the Gamecocks their most humiliating loss since 1967. Troy had an impressive 24-3 lead going in to the locker room at half-time. The Trojans simply "rolled" through the first half with a show of long pass plays and fast-breaking runs. TSU increased their lead to 31-3 when Greg Walls scored on a 2-yard run. The score increased with Carl Smith's 50-yard pass reception for six. Troy scored again as Willie Miller rambled 5-yards. This 5-yard score came after the TSU defense stopped the Gamecocks with a tremendous goal-line stand. Our final score of the season was a 1-yard run by Fred Mixon. Troy State buried the Gamecocks.

Old Faces . . . New Faces

Some of the old, familiar faces were replaced with new, unfamiliar ones during the 1983 season; moreover, these old faces who remain had a new air around them. There was a new excited feeling which greatly contrasted with the blank, disgusted feeling of the last season. This new excitement was enhanced by the pride and determination that was present last year. What brought all these new changes? No one factor attributed to these changes, but many factors contributed to these many changes. The retirement of Bradshaw, the hiring of Gailey, the organization of the new staff, and the installation of the new offensive and defensive systems all combined to form the one principal difference between the 1982 and 1983 football seasons, winning and losing. Troy State entered this season with two back-to-back losing seasons. With the hiring of a new coach, many thought 1983 would be a rebuilding season. These people failed to realize the talent, pride, and determination that were were still present. These factors simply needed reviving. The 1983 football team had enough enthusiasm to conquer the world. A new, winning feeling appeared. The previously winless Trojans ended the season with a record of seven wins and four losses. The new faces, the new changes, and the new additions put the TSU football team back on top again, where they belong!

"Magic in the Heart"

The Lady Trojans during the 1983 Volleyball season took the court with four returning starters. In addition the Trojans had several walk-ons and some talented signees to begin the season. This sophomore-dominated team, combating a previous 13-23 campaign, entered the new season with a hope of eventually becoming a championship team. This hope was finally fulfilled at the Gulf South Conference Championship Tournament at Tennessee-Martin on November 19, 1983.

"Magic in the heart" was only one of the key factors that led to the Lady Trojans' success. This magic was present in each girls' heart because they, themselves, believed that they could win. Each girl loved the game and possessed the determination to be a winner. Each girl was conditioned as the entire team completed a vigorous training program each week, which included exercises to improve their running and jumping and endurance drills to increase their timing and coordination. Their goal while performing these various exercises was to decrease the time required to perform each segment.

These girls were dedicated and worked hard through these drills in order to prepare for the regular season. These numerous exercises enhanced the player's re-performance on the court. The Lady Trojans endured the long, strenuous games and outplayed their opponents on the playing field.

The Lady Trojans ended the regular season with a record of 24-14 and traveled to Martin, Tennessee for the Gulf South Conference Tournament. The Trojans were ceded third, but lost their very first match. Then the miracle took place. They came from the bottom of the loser's bracket and won their remaining games to become the 1983 Gulf South Conference Champions. No one believed that the team could come from behind and win, but these girls had magic in their heart" and came out champions.

Some of the highlights of the year were their winning the championship, their beating such teams as Jacksonville State and North Alabama, and competing at Lakeland, Florida against nationally ranked teams. Coach Sprague's personal highlight was seeing the girls playing together with genuine love and support for one another. In summary of the season, Coach said, "The whole season has been fun. We had less me, myself, and I and more of us." This was the "magic in the heart" that made the Lady Trojan Volleyball Team the Gulf South Conference Champions.

"Catch the Excitement of Being a Trojan"

Troy State Men's Basketball once again added to the moments of excitement at TSU. Coach Don Maestri began his second year as Head Coach of the Trojans with enthusiasm. He coached the team to a previous 15-13 record, and he also led the team out of the cellar in the Gulf South Conference by coaching them to a fourth place finish in the final season poll for 1983. Moreover, Coach Maestri had high expectations for the 1983-84 Trojans, as he established a new identity for the team.

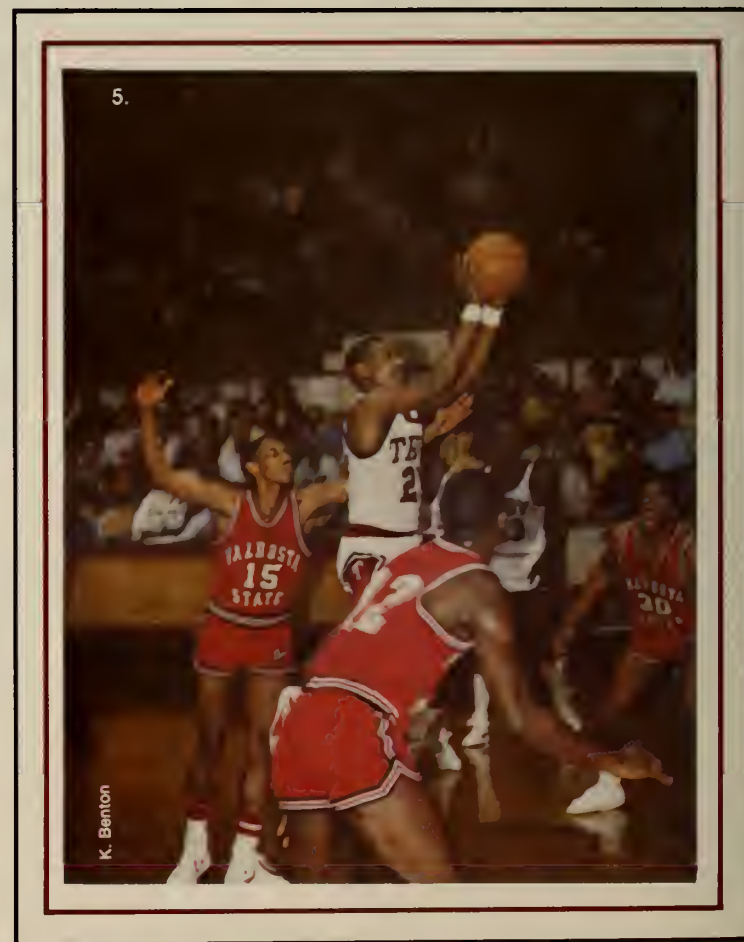

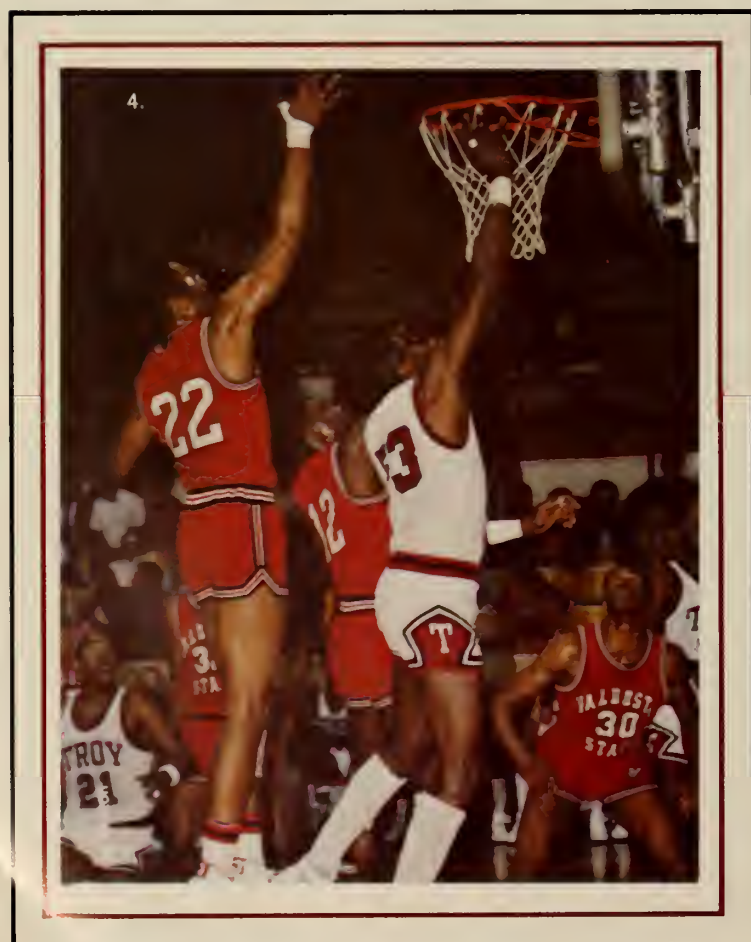

Some of the highlights of the year were their win over

Jacksonville State, their increased patronage from the fans, and their encore of "Showtime".

Troy State ended the year with a decisive game over North Alabama. The winner of the game would go on to represent the league in the Gulf South Conference in the NCAA Division II Playoffs. The Trojans fell short of their first trip to the playoffs when North Alabama defeated them in double overtime. North Alabama went on to the semi-finals of the NCAA Division III Playoffs before they were finally defeated.

Head Coach

Joyce Sorrell

Joyce Sorrell has been a prominent figure in women's athletics for over ten years. She is entering her ninth season as head basketball coach at TSU, and her eighth as coordinator of women's athletics.

Sorrell has made TSU a leader among small colleges in the state for the past six years. In 1981, she coached the Lady Trojans to a Alabama AIAW State Title and then went on to place fourth in the Southern Regionals. Troy State University has participated in post-season tournaments each of her seven years.

Under Sorrell's leadership, the Lady Trojans have compiled a sparkling 127-104 record.

TSU Places Two
on All-American
Track Team

The Troy State University Track team placed two members on the All-American team at the NCAA Division II Track and Field meet at Cape Girardeau, Missouri.

Countess Woody was the first girl at Troy State to be named All-American, as her 5-foot-8-inch jump in the high jump placed her fourth overall. The top six in each event were named All-American.

The women's mile relay team set a new school record at 3:50.56, placing 14th overall. Jeff Weitenbeck finished sixth in the 5,000 meters for the men at 14:26.7. Gene Williams placed 12th in the triple jump at 48'10".

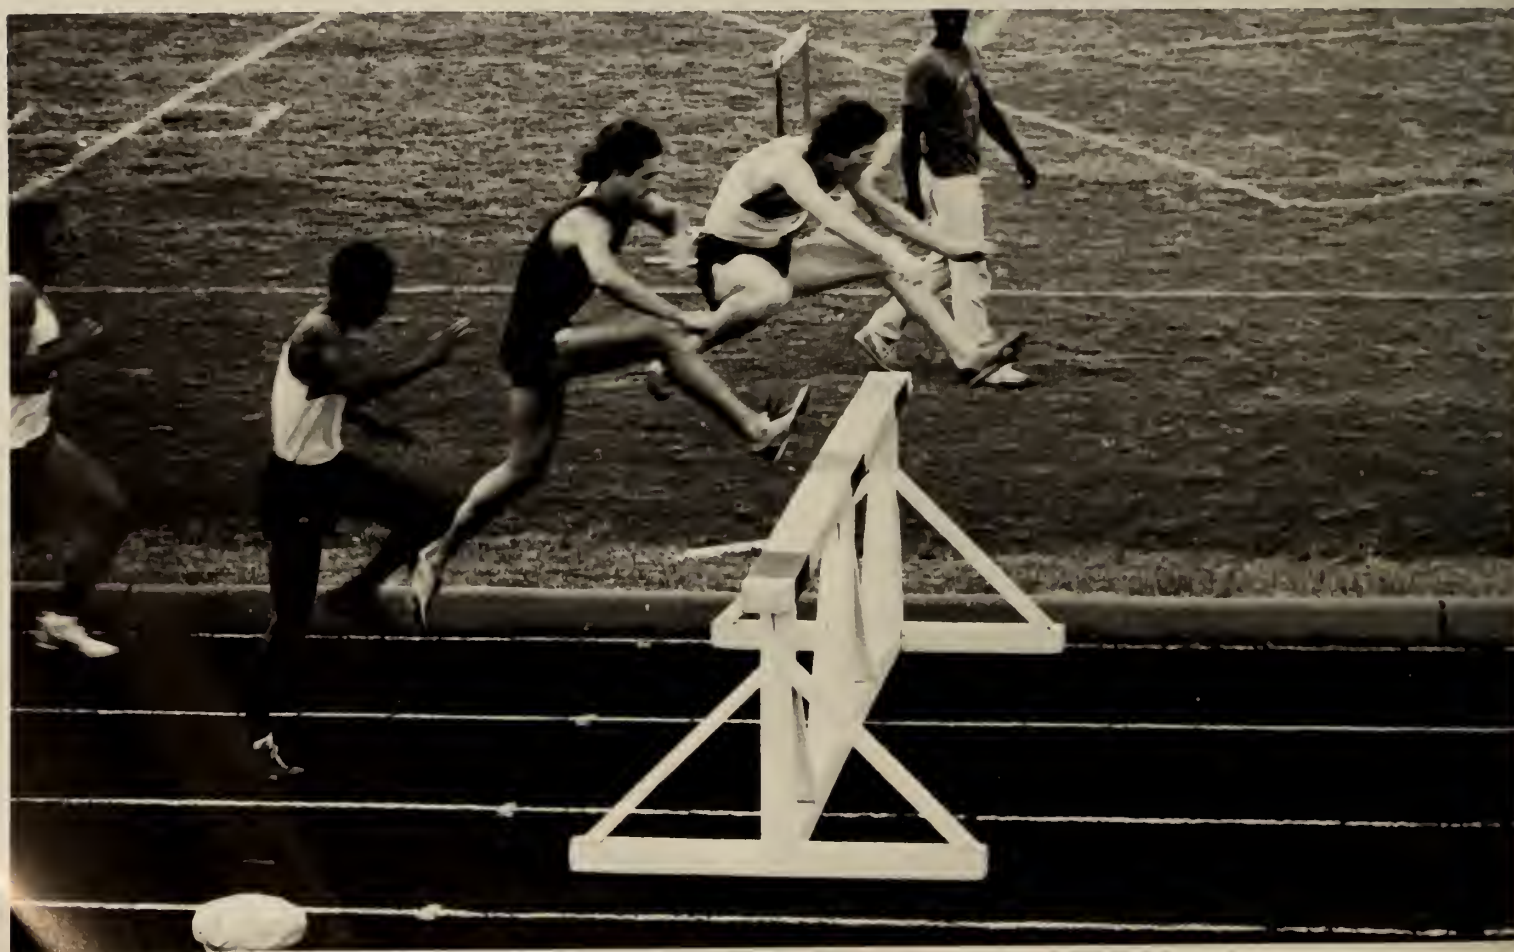

"We are pleased by our results this year," TSU track coach Charles Oliver said. "All of our people will return next year with the exception of Countess Woody, so this was a good experience for us." The men handled the pressure well. They had their best meet since 10 years ago, and the women had their best finish ever, Oliver added.

Troy State University track coach Charles Oliver named Tim Reese, Carolus McKire and Jeff Weitenbeck for the men's team; Countess Woody and Sherri Williams for the women Trojan team captains for the 1984 season.

Tim Reese, a Birmingham junior, a tri-captain of the Troy State University men's track team; was a two-time national qualifier in the 100 meters. He was freshman all-American, and earned All-Gulf South Conference honors as a sophomore.

Carolus McKire, a senior pole vaulter from Clewiston, Florida, was elected tri-captain of the Troy State University men's track team for the second straight year.

He has been a member of three Gulf South Conference championship teams, and helped TSU to its fourth consecutive championship last spring with his performances in the pole vault and long jump.

Jeff Weitenbeck, a junior distance runner from Huntsville, was elected as a tri-captain of Troy State University's men's track team. An all-conference cross country runner and captain of TSU's defending Gulf South Conference championship team in that sport, Jeff has won conference titles in 5K and 10K on the track the past two years. He is the University's recordholder at 10,000 meters (29:45.10) and ranks third on Troy's all time 5,000 meter list with a 14:57.33 best.

Countess Woody, a Troy State University senior, was named co-captain of the 1983-84 Lady Trojan track team. A native of Springville and a graduate of Springville High School, she has held the TSU high jump record, both indoor and outdoor, since her sophomore season.

Sherri Williams, a sophomore distance runner from Birmingham, and a graduate of Mountain Brook High School, was named co-captain of the 1983-84 Troy State University women's track team. Williams was an all-Gulf South Conference cross country performer for Jacksonville State in 1982, before transferring to Troy State. Since coming to Troy, she has performed outstandingly for the TSU Track Club, achieving personal bests at 3,000 meters (10:21.2), 5,000 meters (17:51.66) and 10,000 meters (36:08.63). Her 5K and 10K times would head TSU's all-time lists, and her eligibility in conference cross country and track in '83 will boost TSU's distance squad strength immensely.

Men's Cross Country

The Trojan harriers had another strong campaign in 1983, a year in which the men carried home their 10th consecutive Gulf South Conference title, and qualified for the NCAA Division II Cross Country Championships for the 9th straight time. Troy State qualified for the national meet by placing 2nd in the Southern Regional Meet, the first time in 5 years that they have not captured this title. A 16th place national championship finish was disappointing, but TSU returns 6 of its top 7 national team members from 1983 for an experienced and talented nucleus of performers for 1984.

Troy State's top 7 performers in 1983 featured an interesting blend of youthful and experienced performers. Freshman Julio Valdes led the TSU charge throughout the season, making good on his tremendous promise as 1983 Florida 4A State High School Champion at 2 miles. Consistent multi-all GSC standout Jeff Weitenbeck was TSU's #2 man all season, making a strong comeback after repeated stress fractures injuries in the spring and summer. Sophomore Kendall Gooch occupied TSU's #3 position, providing solid backup to the top 2 with his courageous front running. The squad's biggest surprise was the continued improvement of #4 runner Mike Turdo, a freshman who matured throughout the season into a solid dependable scores. These four runners were the key to TSU's success this season, and they earned all conference honors for their top 7 finish in that meet.

The future of TSU's continued improvement will be the strengthening of slots 5-7 in 1984. Three juniors occupied those positions in 1983, and their maturity and experience will be vital in Troy's fortunes in 1984, especially with the loss of #3 performer Gooch. The most pleasant surprise was the running of #6 performer Gooch Lightfoot, who burst into contention as a top 7 force in 1983 — his potential there is still to be explored. Ricky Daniel, a dependable 3 season performer was a stabilizing force, as was junior college transfer Reginald McClary, who occupied a top 3 slot until late in the season. With a strong recruiting year in 1984, Troy State hopes to improve its stock at the Conference, Regional, and National levels once again.

LADY TROJAN CROSS COUNTRY

The Lady Trojan Cross Country continued to gain the respect of its southern rivals in 1983, with an improved version of its 1982 GSC and NCAA Division II Regional Championship teams. In the 1983 GSC Conference meet, the TSU women swept the top 5 spots to win the meet with a perfect 15 point score. What is more, the Lady Trojans pulled a major upset by defeating heavily favored Florida International University at the NCAA Division II Regional Championship to win the regional crown from a 16-team field and earn the right to compete in their 2nd NCAA Division II Cross Country Championship. Only an optimistic note, the Lady Trojans returned all of their top 10 performers in 1984, 7 with national experience. This seasoned group with the addition of a good freshman crop, looks like a good number to be a national contender in 1984.

Captain Sheri Williams' 1st year as a Lady Trojan was a fruitful one, as she won the Gulf South Conference title, placed 2nd in the region, and was the first Lady Trojan across the line at the national meet. An All-GSC performer for Jacksonville State in 1982, Williams was one of the largest factors in TSU's 1983 fortunes. Sophomore Kathleen Robinson made tremendous improvement all season long for the TSU women, occupying the number 2 slot. She finished 2nd in the conference meet, and 4th in the region. Freshman Lee Duncan was 1983's biggest surprise, opening eyes with her bold early front running, 3rd place in conference, and 8th in region. Junior Tina Kroll, 1982 GSC Cross Country Champion, made notable improvements in 1983, yet found herself only #4 runner on an improved squad. Tina placed 4th in conference, and 12th in region. Junior Darlene Richardson made a sizeable contribution to the 1983 team's success as #5 runner, with her best performances being her 5th at conference, and 17th place regional finish. Williams, Robinson, Duncan, Kroll and Richardson earned all conference honors for their 1-2-3-4-5 finish at the conference championships.

TSU's 6-7-8 runners from 1983 return again in 1984, and are counted on to make further improvement to improve the team's future chances. Sophomore Suzy Bell made substantial improvement in 1983 to earn her #6 position on the team. Second year performer Rebecca Hoffman filled out the #7 position in 1983, and can be expected to move up in position with yet another year of national experience behind her. Junior Katey Stallings, a top 7 performer throughout the year, was felled by back problems late in the year, and now healthy again, will bolster an ever improving Lady Trojan squad in its 1984 quest for conference, regional and national honors.

Playing the Racquet

The 1983-84 Tennis Team's first year under the direction of Coach Dennis Rogers consisted of walk-on team members. Freshman David Good and Jeff Kock led the team with 8 wins, each. Followed by Juniors John Lane with seven victories and Mike Stump with five victories. The over-all season record was 3-13.

In the Gulf South Conference, the Trojan Tennis team finished with a 2-5 record which was seventh in the Conference. Next year, scholarships will be created for the tennis team and additional team members, and fall schedules will be added to the spring scheduling. Only one team member graduated from 1983-84, therefore most of the members will be returning.

Baseball Awards

Troy State second baseman Brian Pinnell was named to the NCAA Division II All American Second Team. Head baseball coach Chase Riddle was selected at the Central Region Coach of the Year.

Pinnell, a senior, from Pompano Beach, Florida, led the team in batting with a .396 average. The infielder had 63 hits and 43 RBI's, while striking out only six times in 159 trips to the plate, prior to the College World Series held at Riverside, California.

Hard-slugging, smooth fielding Dave Banks, first baseman for Central Region champion Troy State, was named to the NCAA Division II First Team Academic All-American.

The selection was made by the Coaches and College Sports Information Directors Association.

The talented junior helped lead Troy State to the 1984 Central Region championship and an appearance in the Division II World Series held at the University of California — Riverside.

For the season, Banks clouted 19 homeruns and produced 63 RBIs.

Ken Harris presents Dr. Adams and Robert Stewart, Athletic Director, with a $5000.00 check to help cover Trojan traveling expenses to World Series.

Trojan Golf

Few schools win the national championship in a sport once, much less two championships. But the Troy State Golf team realized that dream for the third time as they became the NCAA Division II national champions in 1984.

The Trojans had earlier won championships in 1976 and 1977, but this year's team had one of the greatest years ever. Despite starting slow in the fall winning only their own tournament and finishing second in only one other tournament, the Northeast Louisiana Invitational. The team then went out in the spring and won six tournaments, five out of their last six and their last four in a row. They started out by winning their own Trojans Oaks two-day. They then finished back in the pack at Imperial Lakeland against Division I competition. Division II contender Florida Southern finished well ahead of them though.

After finishing sixth at the Panhandle Intercollegiate behind the likes of Ole Miss, Alabama and Florida State, the Trojans began to jell. Ben Bates a senior from Havana, Florida was the individual winner in a playoff over SEC champion Dave Pegge of Ole Miss.

In the Southern Jr.-Sr. the Trojans overcame a ten shot deficit on the last day to beat Auburn and number one ranked Columbus College. After the Southeastern Intercollegiate in which Troy was the only Division II school, the Trojans went out and again defeated Columbus College and this time Florida Southern in the Southeastern Division II. Next was a victory in the Alabama Intercollegiate, the state championship, over Alabama, Huntingdon and Jacksonville State.

Then came the Gulf South Conference Tournament in which the Trojans owned the title for the last four years.

Again, this year was no different as the Trojans dominated the Delta State course and won the tournament going away by forty-seven shots. Chip Holcombe a senior from Ft. Walton, Florida was the individual winner. Bates and David Stover, a sophomore from Solon, Ohio, both made All Conference.

Next was the NCAA Division II National meet in Erie, Pennsylvania. Battling cold and windy weather, the Trojans took a one shot lead on the first round, stretched it to eleven on the second day and won the four day tournament by 18 shots over Florida Southern, and took the national title.

Terry Mobley, Sr. from

Brundidge, Alabama finished second individually and competed in the Division I national tournament. Holcombe finished second. Bates and Holcombe were named first team All-Americans. Mobley and Joey Mabry, a senior from Meridian, Mississippi, were named second team.

The Troy State Women's golf team spent most of the year competing against the best in college golf, but on the major college level. However, when the time came to compete in their own division, the Ladies did it in style.

Realizing their dream the

women won the National Championship. Since there is no NCAA Division II Women's golf, the Golf Coaches Association got together and formed a national championship for all the small colleges. After shooting three straight scores of 307 the Lady Trojans became the national champions for small college golf.

Coach Chris Force was elated for his team, which consisted of Debbie Hancock, Jenny Holder, Christy Vogel, Traci Boone, Tracey Tolomeo and Glenda Laster. Hancock was the small college individual champion, and Traci Boone finished fifth making her an All-American.

In other finishes for the year, the Ladies finished fifth in the Duke Fall Invitational, out of 16 teams. They finished 8th in the Hudson Industries tournament hosted by Troy and held at Lakepoint Resort in Eufaula. The tournament had 18 teams, which included the likes of Alabama, Florida State, Mississippi State, and Penn State.

Mike Griffin Leaves TSU

Mike Griffin, coach of NCAA Division II national champion Troy State, was named Director of Golf at Auburn, according to an announcement by Auburn Athletic Director Pat Dye.

Griffin, whose Troy State team won the national title, was introduced at Auburn's athletic award's banquet.

"We wanted to go after the best available golf coach in the country," said Dye, "and we are very fortunate to have a man right here in our area who is everything we could hope to find."

Mike is a proven winner. His record indicates that. He holds a Class A PGA card and you can't help but be impressed with his thoroughness and his professionalism in everything he does. He will be a great credit not only to our athletic department, but to our community as well. We are very fortunate to have Mike join our staff."

Griffin will be Director of Golf at Auburn, overseeing the men's program and women's program which will be reinstated as a competitive varsity sport in the fall of 1985. He will also oversee the growth and development of Auburn's program, including a series of summer golf camps.

In addition to being head golf coach at Troy, Griffin has also been the head golf professional at Trojan Oaks Golf Course in Troy. His Troy State teams have won three of the eight NCAA division II championships held.

Griffin, a native of Thomasville, played competitive golf at Troy State. He graduated in 1970 with a degree in education.

"I'm very pleased and happy to be coming to Auburn," said Griffin, "and I look forward to getting on with the opportunities at Auburn, but this was not an easy decision. Troy has been good to me and to my family over the years. It has become home to me and we will always have some of Troy in our hearts."

"From the standpoint of my career, I knew the day would come when I would have to move on to a competitive program in Division I, and I am most fortunate to be going to Auburn. Coach Dye is genuinely interested in all sports and his commitment to an overall championship program is one of the key factors that influenced me to make the move.

"Auburn has won some SEC champions in the past and there are several Auburn players on the pro tour now. The players at Auburn now give us a good nucleus to start from. I look forward to the challenge of winning championships at Auburn just as we've been fortunate to do at Troy."

Griffin replaced Dr. Anthony Dragoin, who coached Auburn's golf team on a part-time basis for 25 years. Dragoin, now teaching fulltime, continues to service the athletic department on an advisory basis.

Trojans Rebound to Claim Central Region Title

Like the mythological Phoenix rose from the ashes of destruction, the Troy State Trojans overcame an error-plagued opening loss to the University of North Alabama Lions to sweep two straight baseball games from those same Lions on the final day of the three-day tourney to claim the Central Region Championship. The Trojans accomplished the near-impossible as they came from the losers brack to down highly favored North Alabama, the team that had put them in the loser's bracket with a 2-1 loss earlier in the season, by identical 9-3 scores on the last day of the tournament.

"We had a hard row to hoe," said a jubilant Chase

Riddle, Trojan head baseball-coach. "We made it. These kids don't know how to quit. We got the momentum, overcame sloppy play to play good. We also got good performances from some tired pitchers."

"We're very happy and fortunate to represent this region in California (University of California-Riverside was the site of the NCAA Division II World Series). We started swinging our bats again which is what we needed", added Riddle.

The Lions appeared to be in the driver's seat for the tourney as they came in with one of the Gulf South Conference's best pitching staffs. As Chase Riddle noted before the tourney started, the team with the best pitching staff has the advantage.

The Lions made that hold up the first day of the tourney as they handcuffed the Trojan bats enroute to a 2-1 win over the host team. By the tourney's end, the Trojans had begun to swing their bats with authority. The end result was two crushing wins over the Lions for the tourney crown and the trip to the World series.

The Trojans opened the World Series as they battled the University of New Haven (Conn.), the winners of the Northeast Region.

Other teams competing in the World Series were: Florida Southern, winner of the South Region; Columbus (GA) College, winner of the South Atlantic; South Dakota State, winner of the Mid West; and the winner of Northridge-Chapman, which will represent the North West Region.

The Trojans were well-represented on the all-tournament team. Making the team were: Tim Cash, pitcher; Dave Banks, first base; Brian Pinnell, second base; Jeff Brinson, third base; Buddy Austin, left field; and Johnny Walker, designated hitter. Walker was also selected as the tourney MVP.

The TSU Trojans were alive and well in the NCAA Division II World Series held in Riverside, California. The Trojans took two very tough decisions 5-4 over New Haven and 12-6 over South Dakota State to move into the winner's bracket in the double elimination tourney.

The Trojans used the three-run homer of Dave Banks in the fourth inning and the two-run blast of Johnny Walker in the sixth to overcome the University of New Haven (Connecticut). The contest proved to be a real barnburner as Troy State faced first team All-American pitcher Mike Raczka.

Unfortunately for Raczka, a big lefthander known for his breaking ball pitches, he went to his fastball two pitches too many Banks and Walker unloaded on them and parked them over the fence.

New Haven had jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the third inning only to see Banks rip his three-run shot in the fourth to put TSU up 3-1. After New Haven closed the gap to 3-2 in the fourth, Walker delivered his two run shot in the sixth to move the Trojans out to a 5-2 lead.

New Haven batted for two runs in the seventh, sending starter Tim Cash to the showers. Reliever Tim Cribb retired seven straight batters in his 2 1/3 innings of work to claim the save and preserve the win for Cash.

New Haven managed to get 10 hits off Cash, but good defense and timely double plays kept New Haven from putting together a big inning.

Buck Watford, who had been playing great defensively in the series, went three for four on the day and was on board for both home runs.

In the Second contest of the tourney for the Trojans, TSU jumped out to an early

Trojans Battle to Go 2-4 in World Series

8-0 lead and had to hold off a late South Dakota State rally to claim a 12-6 win and move into Monday's contest with number one ranked Florida Southern.

Starter Rickey Knotts, after yielding one hit in the first, coasted until the seventh inning. The inning turned out to be a nightmare for Knotts and his Trojan teammates.

SDS's Daryl Denneke singled. Consecutive errors by Jeff Brinson and Brian Pinnell enabled him to score. Regaining his composure, Knotts fanned the next batter he faced, only to walk the next man to load the bases.

Coach Chase Riddle summoned John Snipes from the bullpen. He was greeted with a three-run double by Mike Hofer, who had started the contest at pitcher but moved to first base after yielding eight runs in five innings.

After getting the next man out, Snipes yielded an RBI-double to Tim Johnson to cut the lead to 8-6. Enter Tim Cribb for his second appearance in as many days. Cribb yielded one single before settling down to finish the 21st inning and collect his second save of the tournament.

The Trojans broke the contest wide open in the eighth as Dave Banks clouted one over the 380-foot mark for his second home of the tourney. Walker followed with a double. Pinnell and Ray Stephens each singled to pave the way for a four-run uprising to win the ballgame.

In the Trojans' third game against Florida Southern, they lost 3-12. In their fourth game the Trojans lost 4-11 to California State Northridge. As a result Troy State placed third in the NCAA Division II World Series in Riverside, California.

PRESIDENT Ralph Wyatt Adams

Dr. Ralph W. Adams was elected president of Troy State University by the State Board of Education on August 3, 1964. At the time, Troy State was a small state supported institute with barely 2,000 students. Today, it is a multi-national University with more than 12,000 students attending classes on campuses located in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and Europe.

A native of Samson, Alabama, Adams holds earned degrees from Birmingham-Southern and the University of Alabama. He also did extensive post-graduate work at the University of Colorado and George Washington University.

In education circles, he is known as an innovator. His "university without walls" concept of taking education to the people has been envied and emulated throughout the nation.

In academics alone, when Dr. Adams became president, Troy State was offering its students an opportunity to earn degrees in only four areas of study. Today, it is possible to earn degrees in forty-eight areas of study.

Dr. Adams married his wife, Dorothy Kelly, in September 1942. Mrs. Adams received her A.B. degree from the University of Alabama and her M.S. degree from Troy State University in 1971. Mrs. Adams is currently an Instructor of English at Troy State. Mrs. Adams is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Mortar Board, and is a Honorary Miss T.S.U. Sorrell School of Business and Commerce

Dr. Wayne C.
Curtis
Dean

Dr. Felix
Livingston
Asst. Dean

For many years, The Sorrell School of Business and Commerce was known as the Business Department — a carryover from the period when the University was Troy State Teachers College. In 1971, the School of Business and Commerce was formally established. Ten years later in June 1981, the Sorrell School of Business and Commerce came into being. The school was named in honor of the late Jeff Sorrell, a prominent local businessman who bequeathed the University, particularly the School of Business and Commerce, a substantial sum upon his death.

The basic objective of the Sorrell School of Business and Commerce, comprising over one-third of the total enrollment of the University, is to provide the best possible education for students — a quality education to enable them to become more productive and better citizens. Personal attention is emphasized; each student has an academic advisor from the School of Business and Commerce.

Further, the educational philosophy of the school is strongly embedded in the free enterprise approach to business. The American political system with its democratic ideals, its emphasis upon individualism, and its reliance upon people has been supported by the Sorrell School of Business and Commerce and by the private enterprise system.

Above: Dr. Wayne Curtis is Dean of the Sorrell School of Business and Commerce and Professor of Economics. Active in university-wide affairs, Dr. Curtis chairs two committees — Academic Review Committee and Institutional Evaluation Committee. He is an Active member of Phi Kappa Phi and Omicron Delta Kappa.

Dr. Curtis is a leader in civic organizations and community and state affairs. He has served as a Director for the Pike County Chamber of Commerce and financial consultant for the Pike County School Board.

In 1983, he was named chairman of the Joint University Research Team to Study Reorganization of the Alabama Public Service Commission. He has served as an expert witness in court cases involving economics and statistics since 1971. Dr. Curtis is also a Lieutenant Colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve.

Recently he had two books published — Microeconomics Concepts for Attorneys: A Reference Guide and Statistical Concepts for Attorneys: A Reference Guide — and is currently writing a microeconomics text book.

Dr. Curtis received his B.S. degree from Auburn University, graduating summa cum laude. He continued his education at Auburn, receiving his M.S. degree in economics. Dr. Curtis received his Ph.D. degree from Mississippi State University.

During the 1983-84 school year, Dr. Livingston wrote and presented papers at the Southern Economic Association Meeting in Washington, D.C., the Mid-South Academy of Economist's Meeting in Little Rock Arkansas, the Small Business Institute Director's Association Region IV Meeting in Nashville, Tennessee, and the Small Business Institute Director's Association National Conference in Washington, D.C. For the fourth year Dr. Livingston prepared and presented a daily program "Business and Economic Commentary" which is broadcast on WTSU-FM, Troy State's 100,000 Watt National Public Radio affiliate. Dr. Livingston also appeared monthly on the WTSU-TV program, "Views and Interviews." During the past year Dr. Livingston spoke before four civic and professional groups in Dothan, Montgomery and Troy, in addition to teaching responsibilities Dr. Livingston acts as faculty advisor for Phi Gamma Nu, Professional Business Fraternity and Lambda Chi Alpha.

Founded in 1871 with the divisions of music, visual arts, and speech/dramatic arts, the Troy State University School of Fine Arts is designed to stimulate academic and artistic excellence within a liberal art setting. The School of Fine Arts reinforces the overall objectives of the university and places particular emphasis on developing in students an increasing appreciation and enjoyment of the arts as a medium of rich personal satisfaction by providing a variety of experiences based on needs, interests and capacities.

The school provides an opportunity for the entire student body to experience the richness of our cultural heritage through concerts performed by members of the "Sound of the South" Band, operas, operettas and musical comedy performed by Opera Workshop participants, visual arts exhibits sponsored by the Department of Arts and Classics, and a broad range of dramatic literature brought to life on the stage by the University Playmakers.

School of Nursing

Dr. Patricia Stark, Dean Dr. Jean Mann, Associate Dean

The Troy State School of Nursing, under the administration of Dr. Patricia L. Stark, Professor of Nursing and Dean, School of Nursing, is a multi-dimensional system of nursing education with various units, giving the student an option in type and location of program. The units are: Associate of Science in Nursing Degree program and the Bachelor of Science in Nursing Degree program in Troy with outreach courses in Montgomery, Dothan, and Phenix City. In addition to beginning freshmen, both programs offer advanced placement opportunities for LPN's and RN's as well as for transfer students. The newest unit is the Master of Science in Nursing Program in Montgomery.

The selection of the program is based on individual needs. Persons who select the Associate of Science in Nursing Program may complete the course of studies in seven sequential quarters and begin the practice of nursing. For associate degree nurses, who wish, educational mobility opportunities are available which lead to the Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing.

Learners who elect to pursue the basic Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing proceed from a foundation of science and arts which lead to practice in a variety of professional settings. The Bachelor of Science in Nursing Degree also prepares the graduate for opportunities to pursue graduate education. Graduates of the Associate and Bachelor's Degree Programs are eligible to apply to write the State Board of Nursing Examination to become registered nurses. The Troy State University School of Nursing utilizes a variety of clinical facilities for learning experiences. Hospitals, clinics, nursery schools, health departments and nursing homes are examples of agencies where students practice.

Students in the School of Nursing participate in extra curricular activities on campus. In addition, nursing students are involved in many community service projects such as health fairs, blood pressure screening clinics, blood drives, and disaster drills.

Top Right: Dr. Patricia L. Starck serves as TSU's Dean, School of Nursing. She graduated from Georgia Southwestern College with an associate in nursing and then continued her education, completing her doctorate at the University of Alabama in Birmingham. In addition, Starck has written articles for such publications as Nursing Outlook and is currently on the American Rural Association Research Committee. In 1984 Dr. Starck participated in tours of the Soviet Union and Spain as an educational leader for Professional Seminar Consultants, Inc.

Bottom Right: Dr. Jean B. Mann is Associate Dean of the Associate Degree Program and Associate Professor of the School of Nursing. Dr. Mann joined the TSU staff in 1975. Prior to that time, she was in the Nursing Educational Administration in Northern Michigan. Dr. Mann holds the BSN, MSN, Ed.B, and Ed.D degrees. She is an honorary member of Gamma Beta Phi, member of the Auburn Nurses Honor Society and is to be listed in the Who's Who in Contemporary Nursing. In 1982 Dr. Mann was appointed by the governor to the State of Alabama Board of Nursing on which she now serves as President.

Hall School of Journalism

Mr. Merrill Bankester Dean

The School of Journalism is the youngest school on the TSU main campus with a beginning in 1972. But, it is the fastest growing journalism school in the State of Alabama with over 200 majors registered in the Fall of 1983.

The school offers two areas of concentration, news-editorial and broadcasting. Broadcasting courses were offered for the first time in 1975 and now students produce their own nightly news show as well as other shows at a fully equipped campus Television station.

Students in the journalism program have the opportunity to train at the campus television station as well as on the campus newspaper which is a weekly newspaper, and the school's yearbook.

A vital part of the journalism major is an internship program which is required of all students. The student must spend one quarter during his or her senior year at a newspaper, television or radio station, or public relations office.

As an additional aid to the student's education, the School of Journalism sponsors a symposium each spring whereby outstanding and nationally recognized journalists come to the campus to participate in seminars. Also, an endowed Chair of Journalism was established in 1980, thus, giving the students another means of contact with those in the profession.

In order to involve students more with the field of journalism, a chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, was established in 1975, and a chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the National Broadcasting Society, was chartered in 1981. The three full-time faculty members all had several years of experience in the profession before getting into the world of academia. Stephen Cobb came to Troy

State in the fall of 1980 as an assistant professor of broadcasting. James Joseph is the newest member of the Journalism faculty bringing 35 years experience in the newspaper field. Mr. Joseph came to Troy State in September, 1983, from the Cincinnati Enquirer where he held the position of copy editor for the past five years.

Top right: Merrill Bankester became the Dean of the Hall School of Journalism in June, 1981. He came to Troy State in 1979 from Memphis State University. Prior to getting into teaching, Mr. Bankester spent nine years in the newspaper profession in Alabama and Florida. He is a member of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, and deputy director for the State of Alabama. He was a panelist at the SPJ, SDX national convention in Columbus, Ohio, in 1981.

Graduate School

Dr. Rudi Argenti, Dean

Authorized by the State Board of Education, Troy State University, then known as Troy State College, offered its first master's degree program in 1957 and awarded the first master's degree in education in 1958. Since that time Troy State University System has continued to meet the needs of its graduate students and now the Graduate School offers advanced degrees in the areas of Education, Business and Commerce, and the Arts and Sciences.

The Graduate School of Troy State University System is under the supervision of the Graduate Council. The Council is organized to provide for a systematic examination, approval and continuous evaluation of all curricular offerings and degree requirements. All policies and regulations affecting graduate curricular and degree programs are formulated by the Graduate Council.

Graduate students must recognize that graduate level work differs appreciably from that of many undergraduate programs. While the undergraduate student often finds that his course of study requires that he pass a definite number of courses that are part of a specific and rather inflexible curriculum, the graduate student finds that his program is geared to meeting certain criteria.

All regulations governing the Graduate School are designed to equal or exceed the minimum standards recommended by the Commission of Colleges and Universities of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; the State Board of Education, and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education. All regulations regarding admission, retention and completion are minimum and departments, schools, and colleges may prescribe more stringent requirements.

Upper Left: Dr. Rudolph Argenti is Dean of the Graduate School and Director of University Planning and Assessment. In 1978 he was appointed to the position of Dean after holding the dual position of Chairman of the Department of Health and Physical Education and Director of the Graduate Division for seven years. Dr. Argenti came to Troy State in 1962 as an instructor. In 1966 he received a National Teaching Fellowship to the University of Tennessee and completed his doctorate in 1968. Shortly after returning to Troy State, Dr. Adams appointed him Chairman of the Department of Health and Physical Education. During his tenure at Troy State, he served on numerous local and statewide committees to improve teacher education. He has served as president of the Kiwanis Club and is a member of the Board of Directors for Alabama Special Olympics.

College of Special Programs

The College of Special Programs was organized August 1, 1981. It is comprised of four directorates: Applied Sciences, Continuing Education, Cross Disciplinary Courses, and Educational Services. The largest task of the College is the administration of the Off-Campus Branches of TSU at Bay Minette and Phenix City, Alabama; Ft. Benning and Moody Air Force Base, Georgia, the Florida Region Incorporated and thirty US military locations in Europe.

In the Fall of 1983 there were approximately 4,500 students enrolled in the College of Special Programs. These students are usually older than Main Campus students and most have full time occupations outside their classrooms. Their classes are usually held at night and other off-duty hours. The most common academic programs are business administration, management, applied science, international relations, personnel management, criminal justice and counseling and human development.

The Main Campus personnel in the College of Special Programs are Dr. Nolan C. Hatcher, Dean, Mrs. Barbara David, and Dr. Fredrick Stewart.

Above: Dr. Nolan C. Hatcher is Dean of the College of Special Programs, Director of Continuing Education and Cross-Disciplinary Courses, and Coordinator of Counseling and Human Development. He retired from the US Air Force in 1967 where he served as a commander and senior Staff Officer and held the rating of command pilot. Before entering the service he was an elementary school teacher and a high school band director in Texas.

He received his B.A. degree in Music and History from Abilene Christian College, his Masters of Education degree from the University of Oklahoma, and his Doctorate of Education from Auburn University. He taught psychological foundations of education at Auburn University prior to joining Troy State University in Europe in 1974 as an Assistant Professor.

After serving as Coordinator for

TSU — Europe in 1977-78, he was added to the staff on the Main Campus. He has been a member of Psi Chi, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Kappa Kappa Psi, Arnold Air Society and the Rotary Club. At TSU he serves as Foreign Student Advisor and Advisor to the International Students Cultural Organization (ISCO).

Right: Barbara R. David is Director of the Office of Educational Service. She has served as Assistant Registrar for the home campus and Registrar/Director of Admissions for TSU — Europe prior to her present position.

Mrs. David Monitors admissions and record activities for students enrolled with the off-campus locations under the College of Special Programs and advises former TSU students completing degree requirements under the Servicemembers Opportunity College Program.

Florida Region, Inc.

Troy State University, Florida Region, Inc., is dedicated toward meeting the educational needs of military and civilian personnel in Northwest Florida. It had its beginnings in 1973 at Hurlburt Field and later included Eglin Air Force Base, both of which are near Ft. Walton Beach, Florida. Since then it has expanded its areas of operation to encompass the Naval Air Station, Corry Station and NAS Whiting Field in the Pensacola, FL area.

The Florida Region offers baccalaureate degrees in Applied Science, Business Administration, Computer and Information Science, Criminal Justice, Psychology, and Social Science.

Master of Science degrees are offered in Counseling and Human Development, International Relations Management, and Public Relations.

The curriculum and format of course scheduling provide for flexible adaptability to the military and civilian working student's duty or work requirements without compromising academic quality.

Troy State Europe

In 1974 the Board of Trustees of the University authorized the Graduate Council to establish the European Region of the Troy State University System. Graduate degree programs were established at United States Air Force Bases in Germany, Italy, Turkey, and the United Kingdom. In March, 1976 the Troy State University European Region began conducting undergraduate degree programs on United States

Air Force Bases in Europe.

Troy State University European Region operates on the semester system. Most bases conduct four ten-week terms per academic year. A few bases use five eight week terms. Classes are usually scheduled Monday through Thursday evenings with classes meeting either once or twice each week. A few daytime and Saturday classes are also scheduled.

In Appreciation . . .

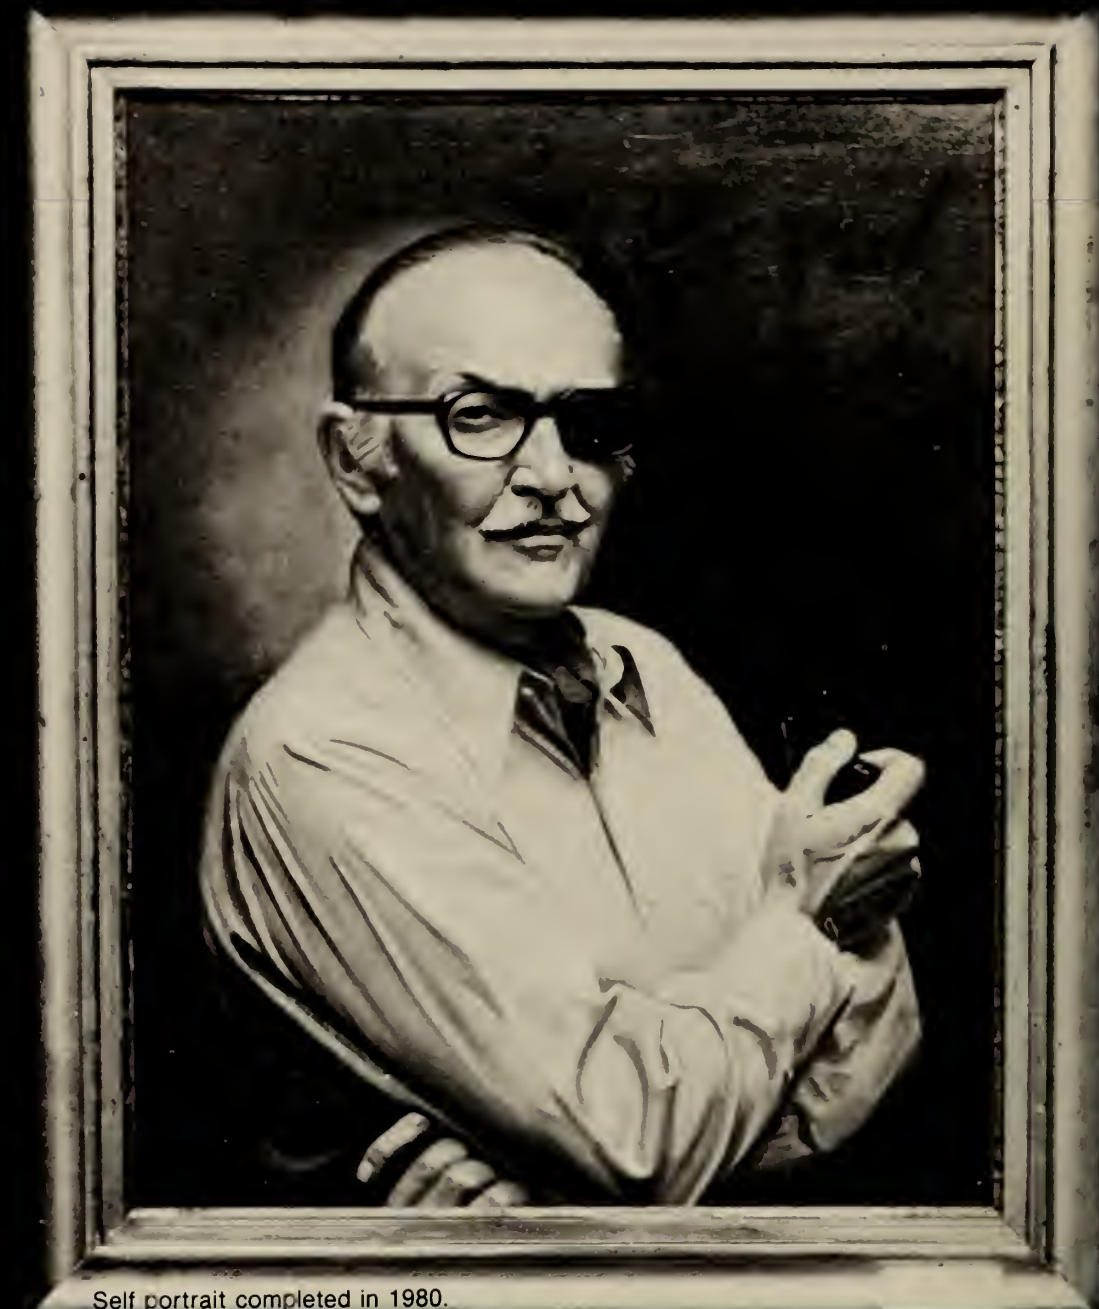

Mr. Woodi Ishmael has been an Assistant Professor of Art at Troy State University since September 1971. As a Professor of Art at Troy State, Mr. Ishmael teaches drawing and painting, art appreciation. During Mr. Ishmael's thirteen years at Troy State he has shared his talents with the University in many ways. Each year Mr. Ishmael designs the cover of the program for the Miss TSU Pageant, which is sponsored by the Palladium. Mr. Ishmael has donated many works to the University. He has drawn sketches of many buildings on campus, prominent people on campus, and distinguished people in the surrounding communities and states.

Mr. Ishmael graduated from Portmount High School in 1932, and in 1936 he graduated from the Cleveland Institute of Art. Mr. Ishmael feels that education is a continuing process, and over the years he has continued to study the works and lives of artists; European, American and even touching on the Oriental, particularly the Japanese. More recently in the past five years, Mr. Ishmael has done extensive research and study in oil painting techniques from the Renaissance through the Impressionist period.

For over twenty years until 1961, he painted in all mediums for industry; advertising and illustration and covers for magazines as well as illustrating over thirty-five books. Since 1961, he has written and drawn a weekly syndicated column for Associated Press News features titled: "The Power of Faith."

In 1964, he was the only courtroom artist at the Jack Ruby trial who transmitted three of four drawings a day via wire photo to Worldwide A.P. affiliates.

For the past twenty-five

Self portrait completed in 1980.

years Mr. Ishmael has been one of the Official Air Force artists. Portrait commissions for the Air Force include three Chiefs of Staff, sixty-eight drawings of all the Air Medal of Honor winners and nine portraits hanging in the Air Force Academy, and 150 of his works are in Air Force Collections around the world. During his career Mr. Ishmael has painted on six continents, and has become known as a world famous artist and a noted individual for his accomplishments. In February 1968, he was the "Artist in Residence" on the S.S. United States, in October-November 1970 he was "Artist in Residence" on HMS Queen Elizabeth II, and in February-March 1971 he was "Artist in Residence" on HMS Queen Elizabeth II for a two-week cruise in the Caribbean. Also, in 1972, he painted the official portrait of Mrs. George Wallace, wife of the Governor of Alabama. In November 1974, he painted the official University portrait of Dr. Ralph W. Adams, President of Troy State University.

Mr. Woodi Ishmael is truly a distinguished individual on the campus of Troy State University. In May 1975 he was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, National Scholastic Honor Society. Mr. Ishmael's artistic works have been displayed in exhibitions at: Cleveland Museum of Art, Ohio State Fair, University of Michigan, New York Manhattan Savings Bank, Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, and Schumacher Gallery at Capital University in Columbus, Ohio. Also, many of his portraits and paintings are in private collections.

The 1984 Palladium Staff would like to express our deepest appreciation to Mr. Woodi Ishmael. The Staff would like to say thanks for all the time and devotion he has given to the students and to the University. We would especially like to say thanks for the portraits of the Board of Trustees on pages: 112, 113, and 114; and the sketch of the Palladium on page 416.

Professors Carr, Hilyer, and Ishmael Retire

Eva S. Carr

Dr. Carr, a native of Alabama, came to Troy State in 1972. After twelve years, Dr. Carr made the decision to retire at the end of fall quarter 1983. Dr. Carr received her B.S. degree in 1949 from Livingston State University, her M.S. degree in 1960 from Auburn University, and her Ed.D. in 1970 from Auburn University.

During her stay at Troy State, Dr. Carr has taught Business Education, Vocational Education, Management, Supervision and Communications. At the time of her retirement, Dr. Carr was Chairman of the Business Education Department. Dr. Carr has served on many university committees during her twelve years at Troy State. A few of these committees are Curriculum Committee, Graduate Committee, University Council on Teacher Education, Steering Committee for NCATW Self-Study, Committee on Evaluation and Follow-up, NCATE

Self-Study, and Sub-committee on Special Activities, SACS Self-Study.

Dr. Carr has membership in many professional associations. Among these are Southeast Alabama Business Education Association, Alabama Business Education Association, Southern Business Education Association, National Business Education Association, Alabama Vocational Association, and Delta Phi Epsilon, Business Education Honorary Society.

Mary Rawlins Hilyer

Ms. Hilyer came to Troy State University in 1968, and after sixteen years of service she decided to retire at the end of the school year. Ms. Hilyer has taught at Arifton High School, Geneva County High School, Goshen High School, and Charles Henderson High School. Ms. Hilyer received her B.S. degree in 1957 from Troy State University and her M.S. degree in 1968 from Troy State University.

During her stay at Troy State, Ms. Hilyer has taught such classes as: Basic English, Composition and Modern English, English Literature, Grammar and Linguistics, Advanced Writing, and Method and Materials. Ms. Hilyer has been a member of various Universities committees such as: Teacher Education, Alumni Relations, Educational Resources, and Student Affairs. She was supervisor of student teachers and sponsor of Sigma Tau Delta.

Ms. Hilyer holds membership in several honor and professional societies. Among these societies are Delta Kappa Gamma, Sigma Tau Delta, Kappa Delta Pi, Modern Language Association, and ACETA.

Woodi Ishmael

Mr. Ismael, a native of Lewis County, Kentucky, came to Troy State University in 1971. For the past thirteen years he has faithfully served the University. Mr. Ishmael chose to retire at the end of the 1984 school year. Mr. Ishmael's talents and teaching ability will be missed by the University.

A row of seven black and white portraits of young men, likely students, dressed in suits and ties. The portraits are arranged horizontally, each showing a different individual from the chest up. They are all wearing dark suits, white shirts, and dark ties. The backgrounds of the portraits are a mottled, light gray. The men have various hairstyles and facial features, including mustaches and different hair colors and styles.

The Epsilon Kappa chapter of Alpha Delta Pi has been very active on campus this year. The group's activities included placing first in the Angel Flight Bed Race, SAE Sexy legs contest, and participating in Sigma Chi Derby.

The girls also had an excellent year in sports. Alpha Delta Pi placed first in both sorority volleyball and basketball. They were overall Greek Week and Sigma Pi Powderpuff champions.

Individual efforts included Angel Flight Commander, Miss Venus, Delta Chi Calendar Girls, fraternity sweethearts, and leading roles in the TSU drama productions.

Alpha Delta Pi also donated money to their national Philanthropy, the Ronald McDonald House again this year.

Troy State's Eta Phi chapter has continued its tradition of growth and achievement throughout the 1983-84 school year.

Fall quarter brought Eta Phi numerous successes, further adding to their widespread campus recognition. They responded to the implementation of Dry Rush with the acquisition of thirty-two pledges. This prosperous rush was followed by their worthy football team's being awarded the Intramural Football Championship, and Derby, the Fraternity's annual Philanthropic project, resulted in a record amount of proceeds.

The highlight of winter quarter was their Seventh Anniversary Banquet, which honored newly-initiated brothers, little sisters, and the new Sweetheart, Ginger White.

Eta Phi chapter is noted for its unflinching support of the Greek system and its significant progression therein.

Theta Chi means living, learning, working and playing together with a group of men you call your brothers. Since 1964, the Zeta Theta chapter of Theta Chi has strived to maintain these goals at TSU.

Trophies, awards, and honors mean many things to many people; without Brotherhood, these things count for very little. The special meaning of Brotherhood guides the men of the Theta Chi Fraternity. Brotherhood cannot be learned in a week, a month, or even a year; it is a continuing, growing experience.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

One Troy State University organization, the Interfraternity Council, plays an important role in the decision making that affects the fraternity system.

The IFC is comprised of representatives from each of the eleven fraternities. Together, the representatives work toward promoting better relations within the greek system and between the fraternities and the University.

This year the IFC supported intramural sports, oversaw rush activities, and, together with Panhellenic, sponsored Greek Week spring quarter.

PANHELLENIC

The Panhellenic Council is defined as "the governing body" of the social sororities at Troy State. Three representatives from each sorority are elected to serve on the Panhellenic Council. They become the link between their sorority and the rest of the Greek system. Panhellenic offices are held on a rotation system based on the charter date of the sorority. Panhellenic was formed after two sororities received their charter on campus 17 years ago. Since then, Panhellenic has strived to keep unity between all the sororities and to promote the true sorority spirit, which is encouragement of leadership, scholarship, and sisterhood.

Fraternity Rush: "To Drink or Not To Drink"

The Greek system did not have the option "to drink or not to drink" beginning fall quarter 1983 after a rule installing dry rush was passed by a committee of fraternity advisors.

This rule was met with both approval and disapproval. One fraternity president remarked, "I was enthusiastic that the rule went into effect," but another felt the way the decision was made was unfair. He said, "The IFC made the decision to not accept dry rush; however, it was imposed by the advisors to the fraternities. I believe that we (IFC) should have been able to make our own decisions."

Surprisingly, dry rush was viewed as a success by a majority of the fraternities. One Pi Kappa Phi member commented, "It was great. We got the guys who were interested in the fraternity, not just the alcohol, and we also saved money this way." A Sigma Chi member said, "It showed who knew their fraternity best and appreciated it the most. It worked to our advantage."

Making the switch to Dry Rush was a challenge to all involved. However, the successful answer to the question "to drink or not to drink" was "not to drink" at T.S.U. Rush.

Air Supply

On Wednesday, October 19, 1983, Air Supply proved that "Even the Night" Are Better when they welcomed a full house in Hartman Hall. Supply performed a range of hits including "All Out of Love," "Every Woman in the World," "Here I Am," "Sweet Dreams," and their new release, "Making Love Out of Nothing at All." Their Top Forty sound enhanced by a laser show made the concert a night to remember in 1983.

Ain't Even Pretty

Real Queen of Hearts involves four high school girls during the Real Queen of Hearts Beauty Pageant. Two of the girls are in the beauty pageant, and two are working backstage. During the last 30 minutes of the play, Sherri Lee and Liz undergo a power struggle with Sherri Lee coming out on top and Liz left out in the cold.

The play is set in Double Springs, Alabama, in 1976 where the Real Queen of Hearts Beauty Pageant is actually held. Brad Bailey's comedy has met wide approval throughout the South. Real Queen of Hearts was presented in Kilby Auditorium on April 18, 1984 under the direction of Dr. David Dye.

The Beach Boys

On April 19, 1984, TSU students were ready for the sound of The Beach Boys. The concert, originally scheduled for winter quarter, was cancelled due to a death in one of the band member's family, and re-scheduled for spring quarter.

Coeds came dressed in mini-skirts, OP swimwear, sunglasses, the works. They all assembled to greet the band that had been so popular during the 1960s.

The audience was filled not only by TSU students, but by older adults who had enjoyed The Beach Boys during their first time around.

Prior to the concert, beach balls and frisbees were sent into the audience to get that "beachy" feeling. The same excitement that put The Beach Boys on the charts pervaded the concert in Sartain Hall.

The Mousetrap, the typical "who-done-it" play written by mystery master Agatha Christie, has proven to be the single longest running show in London's theatre history. The Mousetrap found its way to Troy State's stage on October 10 under the direction of Dr. Judith Lewis, Speech and Drama instructor.

The play takes place in the Great Hall at Monkswell Manor Guest House. The guests arrive along with one unexpected "guest" just in time to be snowed in for a few days. The police are lucky enough to get a call through to the owners of the house and warn them of the impending danger and also tell them that a sergeant is on the way. The sergeant arrives but a murder takes place anyway. All the guests as well as the owners immediately become suspects. However, by the end of Act II the murderer is exposed through a number of Christie-like twists and the ice and snow begin to melt.

Lunch Hour

by Jean Kerr

Erin Frederickson and Tim Bailey starred as a pair whose spouses are having an affair, and who have to counter by inventing an affair of their own. He, ironically, is a marriage counselor, and a bit of a stick. His wife juggles husband, lover, and mother and is a real go-getter. In fact, it was she who proposed to him.

Of the other couple, the wife is a bit kooky. She can discourse on things tacky while wearing an evening gown with her jogging sneakers on; or, again, be overjoyed at the prospect of a trip to Paris. All ends forgivingly for both couples, as the aggrieved wife concedes that they both "need something to regret," and the other husband concedes, "I knew when I married that everyone would want to dance with you."

Lunch Hour was presented by the TSU Department of Speech and Drama February 6-7 under the direction of Mr. Tom Smiley.

A Lesson From Aloes

by Athol Fugard

Set in a house in a white district of Port Elizabeth, South Africa, in 1963, Aloes gives a compelling portrait of a society caught in the grip of a police state, and the effect it has on individuals.

The setting is in the house of a liberal Afrikaner and his wife. He has been actively involved in antiapartheid activity; she is recovering from a recent nervous breakdown brought about by a police raid on their home. They are waiting for a Black family to come to dinner. In South Africa, this is an absolutely forbidden act of insurrection. The Black family never arrives, but the head of the family does. He has just been released from prison and plans to flee South Africa — after first confronting the Afrikaner with the charge that he has betrayed him.

"Exile, madness, utter loneliness — these are the only alternatives Mr. Fugard's characters have. Aloes insists on the heroism and integrity of these harsh choices.

The Sound of The South – Trojans One and All

The "Dixie Fight Song" echoed throughout the stadium as flags waved with striking colors, batons rose to new heights, and the sounds from sundry instruments pierced the air with spinechilling tones. Up and down the field the red, black, and white clad musicians marched in harmony as Drum Major John Hillsman kept the tempo. The Sound of the South's 220 members always performed with such pagentry and pizzazz while inspiring the Trojan spirit.

The ever enthusiastic Dr. Long kept the creative motivation high as a new show was practiced and performed every week. There were many high-lights in the band's season including performing at the Atlanta Falcon's game during half time and playing for thousands of viewers during the Homecoming game broadcasted on C.B.S. There were many other performances at marching festivals in Gunersville, Ala.; Tifton, Ga.; Enterprise, Al.; and the Troy Marching Festival. Such an active and demanding season was rewarded in the end with an invitation to perform in the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Al. Dr. Long introduced an exciting fight song called "Trojans One and All." To his delight the song was enthusiastically accepted by the student body. He dedicated his work to "Dr. Ralph Adams, the greatest Trojan of them all, and his wonderful student body."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association strove to make S.G.A. a voice between students and administration. By using various surveys, S.G.A. was able to get a broad perspective of student and faculty needs. With this information and input the organization was able to improve the social, academic, and physical aspects of Alabama's most exciting campus.

Many students at Troy State did not realize the full potential S.G.A. was able to achieve through more involvement. This was one of the primary hurdles Joey James and his officers had to overcome. "Whatever the students have to say," remarked Mr. James, "the S.G.A. is a sounding board to the Administration and faculty."

In addition to being a vehicle for student involvement, S.G.A. also set out to accomplish certain goals: 1) improving student-faculty rapport; 2) building and strengthening academic standards; 3) bringing to Troy more objective speakers; and 4) improving library facilities.

"S.G.A. is an important force on our campus."

Alpha Lambda Delta

Alpha Lambda Delta is a national society which honors scholastic achievement during the first year in college. The Troy State chapter of AΛΔ initiated fifty to sixty freshmen in 1983-1984. These freshmen must have maintained a 2.5 or higher GPA during fall or winter quarters.

During the fall quarter, AΛΔ began its busy year with a raffle to raise money for the scholarship fund. The organization met three times a year to plan activities including a picnic that was held during the spring quarter.

An award was given in spring to an outstanding senior and past member of AΛΔ who maintained an overall 2.5. Another award was presented at Honors Day to the freshman of the year, Kathleen Scrushy. Vicki Comer was selected for the recipient of the first annual AΛΔ academic and leadership scholarship.

GAMMA BETA PHI

With a new group of eager officers, the TSU chapter of Gamma Beta Phi, an honor and service organization for the top 20% of the students of each class, began fall quarter with exciting goals in mind.

Fall quarter activities included the annual Coke break held in cooperation with the Troy Coca-Cola Bottling Co. The chapter also sold Spook-a-Grams at Halloween for UNICEF, which provided candy and spooky greetings across campus, and held the second annual Great American Picnic, a picnic for members and Troy's foreign students.

Gamma Beta Phi was also proud to have Cindy St. John represent the organization in Troy's 1983 Homecoming Pageant. Miss St. John was 3rd runner-up in the campus-wide election.

During winter quarter the organization took part in the state convention held in Dothan and received its second consecutive Distinguished Chapter Award given by the national branch of Gamma Beta Phi for superior achievement. Sandra Hollis was elected as state president for next year and Jeanette Little was voted secretary/treasurer-elect. Lisa Cetti, was nominated for Alabama's representative to the National Executive Committee.

In addition, the winter quarter saw ninety-nine new members join the society and the chapter participated in a teacher appreciation day.

The national convention held in Nashville highlighted spring quarter. Members spent free time visiting Opryland and other tourist sites (cont. p. 245).

(cont. from p. 244) as well as conducting business with chapters from across the country. Also at national, Dr Rosemary Canfield, the chapter adviser, received recognition for her ten years of service to the organization.

As a whole, Gamma Beta Phi grew in both service and distinction on the campus. The organization profitted from its growth and looked forward to another productive year with the help of the new officers and the spring inductees.

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi, and educational honor society, is the oldest honor society to be established on the T.S.U. campus.

The 1983-84 theme for KΔΠ was "Beyond 1984: Education for Freedom, Strength, Peace." The program topics for the year were "An Overview to Orwell 1984," "A Look at Kappa Delta Pi," "Our Children Our Future," and "The Role of Education in a 1984 Environment."

Kappa Delta Pi made annual contributions to the following scholarship funds: The L.S. Vandeford Memorial Scholarship Fund, The Foy Ingram Cummings Memorial Fund, The Mary Will Berry Brown Memorial Scholarship Fund, and the President's Club. Also, Kappa Delta Pi presents the R.H. Ervin Award to the outstanding senior in education during Honors Day.

Mortar Board

Mortar Board is an honor society for seniors who have excelled in scholarship, leadership, and service. Each person is chosen through a selective process and then recognized in front of his peers by wearing a mortar board.

During fall quarter, a car with mortar board mounted on top was included in the Homecoming parade. During half-time, a football with the Trojans' names on it was raffled off.

A display was set up in the Adams Center in coordination with National Mortar Board Week February 13-17. Members also sponsored the President's Tea for any student maintaining a 3.0 GPA both fall and winter quarters. A Career Readiness Seminar was held to instruct students on career objectives.

Twenty-six juniors were tapped in during their classes and then initiated in the Sorrell Chapel. The Faye Ellis Memorial Scholarship and Service Award was presented at Honors Day to Vicki Comer.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Omicron Delta Kappa, National Leadership Honor Society, recognized meritorious attainments in all-around leadership with a strong secondary membership requirement of scholarship. The Society recognized outstanding students, faculty, and administration based on achievements in all arenas of leadership.

Gen Blizzard presided over the Circle fall and winter quarters and was succeeded by Cindy Willis as President spring quarter. Cindy and Anne Kimmel represented the Society at National ODK Convention in Birmingham, Alabama.

The Ralph Wyatt Adams Leader of the Year award was presented by ODK to Cindy Willis at Honors Day ceremonies.

Phi Alpha Theta

The Iota-Mu Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, international honor society in history, initiated fourteen members in 1983-84 and celebrated its 20th anniversary on the TSU campus. Three dinners were held in the homes of Dr. Welch, Dr. McPherson, and Dr. Tway. Speakers at these dinners were Dr. Porter, Dr. and Mrs. Bowling, and Timothy Smith.

Several students and faculty members participated in the $\Phi\Lambda\Theta$ meeting during the Southern Historical Assoc. annual convention at Charleston, S.C. in November, and attended the Regional convention at Auburn Univ. in April.

On Honors Day Robbin Tomlin received the Scholastic award and Timothy Smith received the Colonial Dames Award for the best paper in American history.

Sigma Tau Delta

Sigma Tau Delta is an honor society for the recognition of excellence in the study of English. To become a member of $\Sigma\tau\Delta$, one must have completed twenty hours of upper level English courses while maintaining a 2.2 GPA in these classes. Also, members must have an overall 2.0 GPA.

Sigma Tau Delta was actively involved in promoting closer affiliation between the English faculty and $\Sigma\tau\Delta$ members. During spring quarter the organization held a banquet with the English faculty.

$\Sigma\tau\Delta$ also sponsored the guest speaker, Jesse Hill Ford. Mr. Ford is a distinguished author from Troy who has had many stories and other works published nationally.

Phi Kappa Phi

The primary objective of the national Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi is the recognition and encouragement of superior scholarship in all academic disciplines. The Society strives to recognize and honor those persons of good character who have excelled in scholarship in their various fields.

In the organization, graduate fellowships are awarded to Phi Kappa Phi members each year on a competitive basis. In addition, Phi Kappa Phi meetings and publications keep members informed as to what is happening in their fields and who is doing the work. These sources of information become increasingly valuable after one has left the academic community.

Members of Alpha Epsilon Rho, the National Broadcasting Society, were outstanding students in broadcasting on college and university campuses and within the broadcast industry. The Society emphasizes superior scholarship and creative participation in broadcasting production and activity. In return, the organization helps prepare AERho members for future roles as responsible broadcasters.

The Troy State chapter of AERho had a busy schedule of events. Fall quarter it hosted the AERho South Regional Convention. Speakers ranged from nationally known Larry Perry, and authority on broadcast law, to Skip Haley, former news director at WSFA in Montgomery. Winter quarter members sold doughnuts to raise money. In April of 1984, three members of AERho, along with Mr. Cobb, attended the Alpha Epsilon Rho National Convention at the Sheraton-Universal in Los Angeles, California.

Arnold Air Society

The Arnold Air Society is a national professional organization of selected Air Force ROTC cadets. The objectives of the Dr. Theodore C. Marrs Squadron is to create a more efficient relationship among officer candidates and within the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps; aid in the development of effective Air Force officers; and to further the purpose, traditions, and concepts of the US Air Force.

The Society at Troy State had a staff consisting of eight positions that secure the execution of duties to be carried out while under the sponsorship of Captain Blocker.

While Arnold Air Society is an organization for AFROTC cadets only, the mission of the Society is further supported by Angel Flight. This years national project was a joint effort of Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight. The subject was POW/MIA or Prisoners of War Missing in Action. For the past year, both organizations have accomplished much in promoting awareness for service men who are still missing in Vietnam. In commemoration of POW/MIA week, the Society arranged for an American flag to be permanently placed in the Centennial Park of Troy. Among other accomplishments the Society performed, community support was a constant objective. By supporting the March of Dimes, helping out in nursing homes, and aiding in the Baptist Children's Home, the members of the Society managed to accomplish much at Troy State as well as in the community. Members have truly lived up to their motto, "the warrior who cultivates his mind polishes his arms."

Angel Flight

Angel Flight is an active organization at TSU and in the Troy community. All female students are eligible to become members.

The Angels experienced a variety of activities and achievements which resulted in national recognition for the Flight's excellence. A lot of time and energy went into aiding the annual Bed Race for charity, March of Dimes walk-a-thon and a local Girl Scout troop.

The Flight's primary function as a support organization for the AFROTC and Arnold Air Society was evident as they helped plan the first annual River Raft Race and this year's POW/MIA Awareness Week. The Angels also sponsored a health fair which was a new and rewarding challenge.

HPER

The HPER Club is a professional organization for health, physical education, and/or recreation majors/minors. The HPER Club has as its goal the professional development of its members through the medium of various projects.

HPER centered its goals on developing and improving new ideas for physical education. By participating in the HPER Fall Conference and the Southeast district HPER conference, the organization was able to learn, by attending various classes, the current physical education trends.

The organization was also actively involved in campus activities. The blood drive has become an annual event for HPER and once again proved to be successful in 1984. Assisting sporting events such as the women's basketball tournaments was also an important function for HPER members.

Kappa Kappa Psi is the National Honorary Band Fraternity serving both marching bands and concert bands across the nation.

Several brothers attended National Convention which was held in Luboch, Texas in late August. During the fall quarter Kappa Kappa Psi provided water for the band members during breaks at Thursday night practices, and also during band camp in the summer. The brothers were responsible for loading and unloading equipment for every performance the band made away from Troy State.

Winter quarter was a busy one for the brothers with pledging activities topping the list. The brothers welcomed 7 new brothers at the end of the quarter. They also worked along with the sisters of Tau Beta Sigma at the Southeastern States Band Clinic.

During spring quarter some of the brothers attended District Convention in Miami, Florida. New officers were installed and the annual softball game with Phi Mu Alpha was held.

Lambda Alpha Epsilon

Lambda Alpha Epsilon is an association devoted to the furtherment of professionalism in all areas of criminal justice. It strives to encourage greater cooperation among criminal justice agencies and to promote greater understanding between the community and the profession. Under the aegis of membership it fosters more responsive training and education to fulfill the needs of the profession through sponsorship of seminars, technical materials and personal contacts. The association serves as a unified national voice on key issues of the profession.

The Tau Sigma Upsilon Chapter of LAE sponsors several projects on the TSU campus as well as in the community of Troy. Some of the annual projects included: a scavenger hunt for campus organizations, a pistol match, the Criminal Justice Career Orientation Day, presenting an award to the outstanding law enforcement officer of the year in Pike County, and helping coordinate local events during National Police Week. LAE also sponsored guest speakers, films, field trips, and social events for criminal justice students.

The Local Honor Society of Nursing recognizes students and community members who have demonstrated superior scholastic achievement, professional leadership potential, and/or marked achievement in the field of nursing. The qualifications include an overall GPA of 2.0, as well as 2.0 in all nursing courses.

Winter quarter, Dr. Patricia Starck, Dean of the School of Nursing, addressed the Society. Dr. Starck spoke on the meaning of suffering. Her presentation was given after a banquet sponsored by the Honor Society.

The Society's goal was to obtain a charter with Sigma Theta Tau, the national nursing honor society. The Society strove to meet the requirements for membership in the National Society and were not far from reaching their goal as the year ended.

During spring quarter, initiates for membership were honored at the sixth annual induction ceremony. The ceremony was held on May 8, 1984 at the First United Methodist Church in Troy. Twenty-nine new members were inducted into the Honor Society.

Phi Gamma Nu is a Professional Business fraternity. The goals of the organization are as follows: 1) The fraternity wishes to achieve loyalty and friendship among its members; 2) It strives to promote a high standard of scholastic achievement. 3) It encourages participation in school activities; and 4) The fraternity promotes upholding the interest in civic and professional enterprises.

Phi Gamma Nu participated in many activities during 1983-84. Members served as ushers at the Miss TSU pageant and entered a car in the homecoming festivities. Also, Phi Gamma Nu had fund raising projects such as selling chances for various prizes.

On February 16, the annual Founders Day banquet was held. Ed Sawyer, grocery store entrepreneur from Enterprise, was the guest speaker at the event. Felix Livingston, Assistant Dean to the School of Business, was the sponsor of the organization.

Phi Mu Alpha is a national music fraternity for men.

In the fall several brothers attended a Province Workshop in Tuscaloosa at the University of Alabama. Several parties and mixers were held for prospective members during the quarter. For the Jax State Game, the brothers made a huge sign that carried the famous "Whup Jax State" slogan.

During winter quarter pledging activities were held and five new brothers were added to the chapter. Some of the brothers participated in the March 4 performance of Messiah.

Spring quarter was a busy one for the Iota Nu chapter. The brothers sponsored a car wash as one money-making project and the annual beach weekend give-away as the other. Many of the brothers participated in the Spring Pops Concert as soloists and in ensembles, with Madrigals, and the Collegiate Singers. The Iota Nu chapter observed Chapter Day May 12, 1984.

Sigma Alpha Iota, international music fraternity for women, was organized in 1903 "to form chapters of music students and musicians who shall by their influence and their musical interest uphold the highest ideals of a musical education".

The Delta Zeta Chapter started off fall quarter with a joint barbecue with Phi Mu Alpha. Vaughn Irby was chosen as Sweetheart and David Seanor was chosen as Big Brother. The sisters hosted an informal party and a formal dessert tea as rush activities. The sisters participated in the Fall Sing by singing with the Collegiate Singers and by serving as ushers. The sisters also performed "Love Is a Song" by Natalie Sleeth.

During winter quarter, such activities as a "Make Your Own Sundae" party for the sisters and new pledges were held. One weekend

Jeannie Bubbet, a Delta Zeta Alumni and province president visited the chapter. Meetings were held with each of officer and a luncheon was held at Western Sizzlin'. A joint supper was held with the sisters of Tau Beta Sigma and everyone brought their favorite dish. Several of the sisters went on Collegiate tour and participated in the Messiah both in the chorus and as soloists.

The sisters started spring quarter by gaining six new sisters and a new slate of officers. The sisters held the annual rock-a-thon and rocked ten hours. As usual, several of the sisters participated in the Pops Concert, singing solos and in ensembles as well as with Collegiate Singers. The annual banquet was held May 24. The Delta Zeta Chapter sent one delegate to National Convention in Chicago in July, 1984.

Sigma Alpha Sigma

As a professional human service organization, Sigma Alpha Sigma actively involved itself in a variety of community projects aimed at helping students and community residents. A major project was the sponsorship of an adopt-a-grandparent program which was initiated in conjunction with the Retired Senior Volunteer Program in Troy and the Organized Community Action Program. Student volunteers became friends with individual elderly people, who were limited in their social contacts, and provided services for them. Club members were also active in assisting O.C.A.P. distribute food products to those in need. The club sponsored a family through the Christmas program operated by the Pike County Department of Pensions and security. $\Sigma\Lambda\Sigma$ also utilized part of its time and effort to solicit contestants for the annual Miss Wheelchair Alabama Pageant which recognizes significant achievement by a handicapped person.

Money-making projects were aimed toward establishing a scholarship within the Dept. of Human Services. This scholarship, when established, will be named in the honor of Ms. Kim Lunsford, a former TSU student who was seriously injured in an accident in 1981. Members of $\Sigma\Lambda\Sigma$ also contributed greatly to the success of the Special Olympics Program held annually at Troy State.

Social activities during the year included a "welcome back" weiner roast during the fall and a chili super during the winter quarter.

Ms. Mary Horta represented the club in the Homecoming festivities, and Ms. Tina Kroll was the contestant for Miss TSU.

The Society of Professional Journalist, Sigma Delta Chi, is the largest and oldest journalism organization in the country. The more than 300 professional and campus chapters which comprise the organization conduct regular meetings, sponsor local award programs and scholarships, and promote freedom of information at local and state levels. Membership is open to sophomore journalism majors in good academic standing with the university.

This year the TSU chapter sponsored a panel discussion concerning the press coverage of cases, such as the Todd Road Incident in Montgomery, and participated in the national SPJ/SDX convention in San Francisco and the regional convention in Miami.

During the spring quarter, the society co-hosted and provided judges for the TSU high school journalism workshop and the Hall School of Journalism's annual Spring Symposium.

Other activities included sponsoring a "Night on the Town" in Montgomery, producing TSU desk blotters to be distributed during pre-college orientation and fall quarter, and sponsoring Brenda Monfee in the Miss TSU pageant and Christina Harold in the homecoming pageant.

STUDENT COUNCIL FOR EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

SCEC is an organization interested in promoting opportunities for exceptional children.

SCEC attempted to promote professional growth and standards while involving the students. Programs were provided monthly in such areas as holiday parties, special olympics, and guest speakers.

Membership required nothing more than love for special children, a willingness to work, and payment of club dues.

Student National Education Association

The Student National Education Association is a professional organization for students in education. It provides the members with essentially the same benefits as the National Education Association members. It sponsors a variety of seminars that contribute to the growth of the future educators. This organization also provides the students with insurance policies, discount purchasing programs, and educational savings bonds.

The 1983-84 SNEA year was full of excitement. Some of the members attended the SNEA state convention in November, 1983 at the University of South Alabama in Mobile, Alabama. The organization also participated in seminars on leadership in education, NEA placement programs, and NEA benefits. The University of South Alabama hosted a cruise on the school's private yacht in which Troy's SNEA members were invited.

During the winter quarter, members attended several NEA sponsored workshops on subjects like leadership, management, color analysis, and motivation. In April, 1984 the spring convention was held at the University of Auburn in Montgomery. There were meaningful workshops, and activities that benefitted SNEA members greatly.

SNEA's officers for 1983-84 were Lisa Caudill, president; Ginger Wynn, vice-president; Teresa Williams, secretary/treasurer; Gloria Green, publicity chairman; and Penny Pope, historian. Troy State's SNEA was also honored to have members serve on the State Executive Council, Lisa Caudill, vice-president; Teresa Williams, secretary/treasurer; and Lisa Compton, southern regional coordinator.

Tau Beta Sigma

Tau Beta Sigma is an honorary service sorority at Troy State University. The sorority extends the privilege of membership to outstanding band members. Tau Beta Sigma generates a respect and appreciation for band music and performance.

Some of the activities sponsored by Tau Beta Sigma began before the regular school year. During band camp they held a Freshman orientation party for all new and old band members. They also held the annual freshman picnic. One of the things that the band looks forward to throughout the year are the notebooks and cookies that Tau Beta Sigma provides for band trips. The annual Halloween party was a great success as usual. The sisters helped Kappa Kappa Psi paint the Mighty Mite.

Winter quarter is perhaps the busiest ones for the sisters. The sisters worked at the Southeastern States Band Clinic as ushers, registrars and gofers. The winter quarter is pledge quarter and there were seven new pledges this year. The pledges sold doughnuts for a fundraiser.

In the spring several of the members attended National Convention in Miami. New officers were elected April 16. The sisters sponsored a supper for the band. The chapter also worked at the Alabama State Band Festival. Founders Week was observed May 14-18 and they celebrated their tenth anniversary with all of the alumni.

■ Trackettes

Trojan Trackettes is a service organization whose number one goal is to support the TSU track team. This involves officiating at track meets, helping with fundraising projects, making signs and posters of encouragement, and cheering the track team when in action.

The 1984 track season was a busy and exciting one for the Trackettes. Home track meets included the Troy Relays, the Gulf South Conference meet, a High School sectional meet, and, to end the season, the High School State meet.

Forensics Debate Team

Forensics is viewed as an educational activity concerned with using an argumentative perspective in examining communication. In colleges and universities forensics forms a wide umbrella of activities which include debate and individual events. Individual events cover a number of activities and include public speaking and interpretation literature. The forensic function of the orator, the reader, and the debater is to identify and communicate the argumentative dimension.

The TSU Forensics competed in several tournaments during the 1983-84 school year. At Appalachian State University, Boone, NC, the debate team of Martin and Harris advanced to the finals to be defeated by Wingate College by a 2-1 score.

At Wingate College (NC), Waring and Harris advanced to the semi-finals and were defeated by Bob Jones University. Martin brought home a speaker award.

DPMA

Data Processing Management Association is the largest professional association serving the information processing management community. The DPMA student chapter at TSU is open to students planning careers in information processing or related fields.

Speakers from IBM, Burroughs, and the Information Systems of Farm Bureau addressed the Chapter. Members attended a Montgomery chapter meeting of DPMA and an exposition in Montgomery.

■ Circle K

Circle K is the world's largest collegiate service organization, represented by over 700 clubs located on campuses throughout the Western Hemisphere. It is composed of students who wish to become actively involved in community concern via service projects and activities.

As an organization on the Troy State campus, Circle K did not limit itself to one or two particular activities. On the contrary, the club was involved in many service programs in relation to the university as well as the community. One of the goals of Circle K was to sponsor social, recreational, and educational activities for mentally and physically disabled children and adults. This goal was achieved when the club successfully sponsored the Special Olympics. In addition, another important goal was to aid in campus and service programs of all sorts. Once again, this was achieved through the clubs involvement in the Blood Drive, the Haunted House for elementary children, and Valentine's day at the nursing home.

The International Student Cultural Organization is an organization for both foreign and American students. ISCO had a very successful 1984, starting with a cookbook sale held in January of 1984. ISCO also organized an International picnic at Blue Springs Park in the winter of 1984.

Besides recreation, ISCO organized cultural presentations by foreign students every week at their regular meetings. ISCO was highly indebted to Dr. and Mrs. Hatcher and Mr. Jim Sherry for being advisors of the organization.

The 1984 executive committee was chaired by Asif Jamal. Other officers included: Yolanda Fernandez, Vice-President; Martha L. Montanez, Secretary; Susan Sasser, Treasurer; Chindah Wami, Publicity Officer; and Diane Ficke, Historian.

The primary mission of the Air Force was to organize, train and equip for offensive and defensive combat operations. The mission of Air Force ROTC was to recruit, educate and commission officers who will help fulfill the mission of the Air Force.

The cadets at Detachment 017 worked very hard toward becoming effective officers through various methods.

Regular class instruction ranged from the structure of the Air Force, the development of airpower, the acquiring of leadership and management skills, and the examining of U.S. defense policies. The cadets also attended a weekly leadership lab which taught drill and ceremonies, military customs, and other general Air Force information.

The hard work was also balanced by many social activities during the year. The cadets participated in picnics and dinners ending with a formal Military Ball in the spring.

Two programs were offered in AFROTC at TSU, a four year program and a two-year advanced program, both of which were open to all students attending Troy State. There were scholarships available which payed tuition, books, fees and a $100.00 per month grant.

The Trojan Ambassadors is a group of select students who are sponsored by the Admissions Office and are trained in etiquette, protocol, and University policy in order to serve Troy State University as the official student hosts and hostesses.

During their first year of existence, the Trojan Ambassadors gave campus tours to prospective students and their parents. In an effort to further recruit new students, they manned booths, complete with brochures, catalogs, and information request cards, at athletic functions on campus, as well as at the South Alabama State Fair. In winter quarter, the Ambassadors successfully sponsored the Student-Get-A-Student Program to promote involvement in the recruitment of students.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

The Wesley Foundation aimed at developing fellowships which were warm, loving, and deeply committed to Christ. Members tried to mutually strengthen one another in Christian thinking and living. Activities were provided to allow students to exercise their creative powers through the process of learning and spiritual growth. These activities included such events as "Welcome Back" parties, retreats, work days, or intermural sports.

Wesley strove to provide students with a balance between the intensity of bookwork and the excitement of Christian fellowship.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is a Christian organization that fosters fellowship through Bible study, outreach, and mission activities.

Bible study was led by Buddy Gray each Thursday. Some of the outreach opportunities included drama, puppets, and choir.

Missions were stressed through Missions Emphasis Week, in which missionaries shared about their experiences. The annual Volleyball Marathon involved campus and community organizations in raising $1800 to assist in sending out over fifty summer or semester missionaries from Alabama. Nine BSU'ers from Troy spent a week of their Thanksgiving holidays doing mission work in Savannah, Georgia.

Winter Witness Weekend was held Feb. 3 and 4 to instruct students how to better share their faith.

Christian Student Center

There's a place for any student at the Christian Student Center. The CSC was a group of active Troy State students dedicated to serving the Lord. One could always find members of the Christian Student Center involved in many activities such as mission trips, youth rallies, and seminars on Christian living. Weekly activities included devotionals, dorm Bible studies, prayer and singing sessions, cook-outs, weekend retreats, and recreational activities.

Two special ministries developed by the CSC were the drama troupe, "Portraits of Christ" and a singing group called "Majesty."

If anyone would like to be a part of an active, enthusiastic, loving group of people dedicated to the Lord and His Word, then CSC is the answer.

The Troy State Gospel Choir was founded and organized during the fall quarter of 1980 by six enthusiastic students. These students were known as the original six and were able to organize the choir with the help and support of the BSU. With the belief that every good life stems from an inner peace, the six founders of the choir united to bring this inner message, which is the word of God, to people through songs.

With concerts throughout the tri-state area, the choir has grown into a respectable and admired organization. Members not only performed in churches such as First Methodist in Montgomery, but also on campuses of universities across the South. The Gospel Choir was sponsored by Dr. Emma Norris, and John Lacy served as President. Other officers included Renae Robbins, vice president; Ulrica Jones, secretary; Clifford Copeland, treasurer; Sue Madison, assistant treasurer; Willie Dillard, director; and Ken Spear, assistant director.

Association for Childhood Education International

The Association for Childhood Education International strove to better the education provided for children. The main objective of the organization was to render services to the Early Childhood Learning Center. They supported this objective by buying books for the Center as well as providing activities for the children such as Easter Egg hunts, a Thanksgiving Day dinner, and a festival full of fun and games. This festival gave members a chance to use their creative skills to entertain and educate children. The organization also held an Open House during Homecoming to inform alumni about the educational dept.

Collegiate Singers

The Troy State University Collegiate Singers is a group of students including music and non-music majors. The group is directed by Dr. William R. Denison, who is the assistant chairman of the music department.

Fall quarter is always an exciting time for the Collegiate Singers and this one was no exception. On November 1, they presented their annual Fall Sing. Their program included such selections as "Ezekiel Saw The Wheel," "Psalmkonzert," and a "Broadway Medley."

During the winter quarter the Singers worked toward their performance of Handel's Messiah. They presented their program March 4. Several of the members auditioned for tour group and toured in Mississippi, Louisiana and in Texas.

The Pops Concert was held May 1 and the Collegiate Singers truly looked like spring with the ladies in their brightly colored dresses and the men in their tuxedos. The program consisted of several numbers by each class and the whole group. There were also several solos and ensembles in the program. On May 17 they sang "American Salute" at the Honors Day activities.

UNIVERSITY DANCERS

The University Dancers presented their own brand of musical excitement in each performance. Whether the show consisted of jazz, ballet, or tap, the audience was always in for a real treat. Flashy sets and costumes added the needed environment for each entertaining show.

The dancers sponsored one major performance during the winter quarter, with the theme "Razzle Dazzle." The organization also provided entertainment at fraternity parties, sorority benefits, basketball games, and local social clubs.

Officers for 1983-84 were Jane Thames, President; Martha Warr, Vice-President; Faye Flowers, Secretary; and Melinda Madison, Treasurer.

The Tropolitan, a student-university community newspaper at Troy State University, sought to inform the students, faculty, administration, and staff of campus events and issues. The Tropolitan was published weekly each Thursday of fall, winter, and spring quarters, excluding dead week and the week of final examinations. The Trop provided practical experience by giving students introduction to news reporting, editing, photography, and mechanical aspects of the newspaper.

The editorial staff for fall and winter quarters included: Gerrienne Plant, editor; Anna Turman, business manager; Sherri Killman, managing editor; Patrice Woodbury, news editor; Shelly McLain, features editor; and Ken Rogers and Scott Bernarde, sports editors. Spring quarter the staff included: Christina Harold, editor; Anna Turman, business manager; Andy Ray, managing editor; Scott Bernarde, news editor; Shelly McLain, features editor; and Larry Hobbs, sports editor. The Tropolitan adviser was Jim Joseph.

Beta Upsilon Sigma

As the Troy State University Sorrell School of Business Honor Society, Beta Upsilon Sigma recognizes juniors and seniors for distinguished ability and exceptional achievement in scholarship in the field of business. The Society was founded locally in 1982 by Shari Stark, Robert Pearson, and Robert Palmer.

Members of BΣ are Row One: Frankie Muller, Mindy Stump, president; Joyia Maddox, and Michelle Proctor. Row Two: Martha Day, Karen Toner, Ellen Conner, Vicki Comer, and Anneliese Herald. Row Three: Teri Davis, Patricia Hudley, Leanne Black, and Maribel Vincenty. Row Four: Susan Martz and Jacquelyn Cooper. Row Five: Howard Kirkland, Robert Palmer, Michael May, and Patrick O'Mara.

Membership into Beta Upsilon Sigma was limited to juniors with a GPA of 2.8 or above or who rank in the top 5% of their class and seniors with a GPA of 2.6 or who rank in the top 10% of their class.

Trojan Hostesses

The Trojan Hostesses are the official support group of the TSU football program. They assist football coaches with public relations and with recruiting.

Hostesses were selected on the basis of their academic major, year in school, poise and appearance, and, of course their interest in the football program. The Hostesses represented a wide cross section of the Troy State campus.

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma is a scholastic honor society which honors freshmen who met required standards of academic excellence. Freshmen who have maintained an overall 2.5 GPA are invited into membership spring quarter of their freshman year.

Phi Eta Sigma conducted its annual initiation ceremony May 17, 1984 in Sorrell Chapel. During the ceremony, fifteen initiates were briefed on the history and the symbols used in the society. The new members were recognized during the Honors Day ceremony.

The residence hall program at Troy State University offers unique opportunities for those students interested in providing educational, social, and cultural advantages for on-campus students.

The men's residence staff, comprised of responsible college men from Alumni, Clements, and Dill Halls, enables male students to accept a position of authority while at the same time helping to create a relatively home-like and intimate atmosphere for dormitory students. Under the direction of Larry R. Popwell, Coordinator of Men's Residence, students are selected for staff positions through applications and interview process.

Men interested are expected to maintain an appropriate grade point average while promoting the university and its functions, especially as the functions apply to general residence hall administration.

The staff consists of student directors, and proctors. A student manager and assistant manager are employed in Dill Hall, the on-campus apartment building. All these students are generally considered the leaders on the campus and are employed through either the college work-study or work-shop programs.

Each man on the staff reports directly to the Coordinator of Men's Residence and the Dean of Student Affairs. Promotions for the positions occur from within the staff and are based on the outstanding performances of specific duties. These duties include both check-in and check-out of dormitory students, periodic room and hall inspections, and enforcement of residence hall regulations.

ADAMS CENTER UNION BOARD

In 1983-84 the Adams Center Union Board, challenged by the changing needs of TSU students, brought exciting and diverse activities to Troy's campus. The board was happy to bring back annual events such as the Family Feud Tournament, Let's Make A Deal For Charity, and the May Day festivities. ACUB also hosted a campus comedy night which featured the antics of Jack Gallagher. In addition, major nights of musical entertainment were provided by the Australian super group Air Supply and the ever-popular Beach Boys. For students with a competitive edge, ACUB brought a variety of tournaments including pool, tennis, ping pong, video, etc. And, of course, there were always the Wednesday night films to provide entertainment for all.

Homecoming: A Day to Remember

Homecoming may be just another day to some people, but to the students of Troy State it is one of the most exciting days of the year.

Preparations were made weeks in advance for the Homecoming activities which began on Friday. Lawn displays were put up all over campus by sororities and dorm residents, and off campus by fraternities. Classes ended at noon which gave everyone time to put final touches on displays and to get ready for the torch light parade. At the end of the parade a bonfire and pep rally was held and the Homecoming Queen and Court was announced for the first time.

Saturday's festivities began earlier than was originally planned. The game was televised by CBS Sports and game time was moved back. Lawn display judging began at daylight and shortly after daylight the Troy State Appreciation Parade began. High school bands, clowns, beauty queens, and many others came out in the drizzling rain to join the Sound of the South.

Following the crowning of Homecoming Queen Sheri Ashmore, the Trojans hit the field for battle against the Lions of the University of North Alabama. After the game the third annual Alumni Band performed and the Sound of the South played a post-game concert.

Although the game was over, homecoming was not, as alumni, friends, and acquaintances got together to celebrate.

Pi Kappa Phi National Rose Jana Hartert

Jana Hartert joined a tradition for Troy State Pi Kappa Phis when she was chosen Pi Kappa Phi National Rose. Jana, a senior Management major from Marietta, Georgia, was the second Troy State co-ed named as National Rose. The first Nat'l Rose from Troy State was Becky Redd in 1982. It was Becky who crowned Jana at the opening festivities of Pi Kap College in the summer of 1983.

Jana was selected as the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity Rose 1983 and then submitted as a candidate for National Rose. Ms. Hartert submitted a portfolio and a resumé consisting of five standardized essay questions. After preliminary selection she had a phone interview with the panel of judges and was later congratulated upon her selection as Pi Kap National Rose. Jana explained that the judges were hesitant at first about choosing a National Rose from the same chapter two years in a row — something never achieved before in Pi Kap history — but after much discussion felt Jana deserved the title.

Jana's being crowned by Becky was notable not only because they were little sisters from the same chapter but also because they were sisters of the same sorority, Kappa Delta, where Jana has served as Assistant Treasurer and Social Chairman. Jana also chose as her Rose Queen goal to continue Becky's goal of upgrading the little sister program and stressing unity between the brothers and little sisters.

Jana's year as National Rose involved traveling to several chapters, leading seminars, and assisting in P.U.S.H., Pi Kap's philanthropy project. Should a chapter have problems, Jana could also assist with such things as initializing a little sister program.

Jana commented, "This past year has really been a learning experience to observe the different Pi Kappa Phi chapters. This fine group of men all over the country work and share together; they learn to accept each other as they are; and most importantly the brothers provide a home away from home. As National Rose, I would like to say I was blessed with a great honor which I will never forget. Thank you TSU Pi Kappa Phis for making this possible."

Miss TSU 1984

The 1984 pageant was the thirteenth annual Miss TSU pageant sponsored by the Palladium Staff.

Cordella Delisa Johnson, a 21-year-old speech and drama major from Evergreen, Alabama, was crowned Miss TSU 1984. Miss Johnson was the first Black to win the title since the pageant began in 1971.

Other Top-five finalists were: first runner-up Christina Gregory, of Mobile; second runner-up Tammi Burdick, of Enterprise; third runner-up Andrea Ashford, of Glennville, GA; and fourth runner-up Victoria Bergquist, of Ozark.

The pageant week began on Sunday, with a tea held by Mrs. Dorothy Adams in the President's home. At the tea Mrs. Adams was given the title of honorary Miss TSU. She was given a silver compact engraved with her title by Jacqueline Smith, Pageant Director.

The following week was filled with practices and dress rehearsals. One night of talent competition was held. Three non-finalist talent winners performed during the final night of competition.

The final night of competition was full of excitement. Mr. Bob Howell of WSFA-TV in Montgomery was the emcee for the event. Miss Alabama, 1983, Pam Battles, was a part of the entertainment.

Miss TSU represents Troy State in the Miss Alabama pageant, a preliminary to the Miss America pageant.

This year, four TSU students have qualified for the Miss Alabama pageant. The contestants and their pageant preliminaries are: Miss Spirit of '76, Marla Franklin; Miss TSU, Cordella Johnson; Miss World Celebration, Pam Love; and Miss Deep South, Juaneysa Wilkins.

Each year at commencement exercises across the country, a select group of students are called forward to accept one of the most prestigious awards the academic community can bestow — being selected to Who's Who Among Students In American Universities And Colleges. This exclusive honor is conferred by more than 1,000 schools in all 50 states and the District of Columbia and symbolized by the presentation of an award certificate.

Selections to Who's Who are made each fall. In nominating the upperclassmen and graduate students eligible for the program, campus nominating committees are urged to apply their own local standards of academic excellence. In general, these committees are composed of representatives from the faculty, administration and student body.

This procedure of local nomination serves to highlight the individual and diverse talents of America's most prominent students. For through their contributions and service to community and school, these are the young adults who enhance the positive image of American youth.

Because curricular and extracurricular programs at schools vary greatly, each college is assigned a quota of nominees. This quota is carefully calculated to insure a well-rounded representation of the student body. All nominations must be endorsed by a college's faculty of administration.

It should always be remembered that college students are the reservoir from which our nation draws its leadership strength. This feeling about American students is the guiding principle behind the Who's Who program and efforts to proudly continue to aid campuses in honoring their students who demonstrate consistent excellence.

Among the many selected to Who's Who are Reubin O'Donovan Askew, 1951, Governor of Florida; John B. Connally, Jr., 1939, Former Secretary of the Treasury; Rogers Harrison Mudd, 1950, CBS National News Commentator; and George McGovern, 1956, U.S. Senator from South Dakota.

Ingalls Award

The Ingalls award is an honor given each year by the Ingalls Foundation of Birmingham, a non-profit organization which supports quality teaching in colleges and Universities. The award provides students an opportunity to show their appreciation for outstanding teaching in colleges and carries with it a $1,000 check and an appropriate plaque.

This year, the Ingalls award, the highest honor a Troy State University faculty member can receive, went to Dr. Rhae Swisher. Dr. Swisher joined the TSU staff as a management instructor in 1972. He served as Dean of the School of Business and Commerce from 1975-81.

He has also served for 12 years in major executive positions with Westinghouse Corporation and International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation. Before coming to TSU, he was Vice President of Simpson College of Indianola, Iowa and the Director of Management Services for the College of Business Administration of Kansas State University.

1984 Algernon Sydney Sullivan Winners
Dr. Barnett, Ms. Ashmore, and Mr. Starling

Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award

The Algernon Sydney Sullivan award, the highest honor given by the University, is presented each year to a non student, male student and female student based upon their inspirational example to others.

This year's recipients were Dr. Edward F. Barnett, TSU Vice President for Academic Affairs, Sidney Raymond Stalling, Jr., a senior business major from Troy, and Sherri Ashmore, a senior nursing major from Medford, Oregon.

Dr. Barnett was cited for taking a leadership role in education, religious and community service activities of Troy since 1959 when he joined the TSU faculty.

The judges said, "Barnett is a leader by example, one who accepts his responsibilities and the challenges of daily living with integrity and humility.

Starling, a member of Sigma Chi, social fraternity, was cited for his outstanding contributions to the community.

"He possesses the traits and aspirations of one who loves God, his country and his fellowman intensely. He is a leader and a lover of life," his citation said.

Ashmore, a former Oregon Junior Miss and the 1983 TSU Homecoming Queen, was cited for her Christian leadership. "Sheri Ashmore is an active Christian campus leader. She is admired by faculty, staff and peers alike — She represents the qualities of the Sullivan award because of her proven scholastic ability, Christian behavior and her varied involvement in campus organizations."

Classes . . . ultimately why everyone was here, if not to learn, then to improve, to acquire an education and have some fun all the while was the main purpose and objective of each Troy student.

Fall quarter, it was evident among the freshmen, if no one else, for they hustled and hurried about in a frenzy and completed their classes with a sign of relief and with an eager smile at thoughts of returning home for Christmas. Winter must have been the most dismal looking time of the year, as the barren trees and constant rain tended to dampen everyone's spirits. Many times the challenge of facing the cold morning air was enough to get students going again.

For the seniors, spring resulted in a time of reminiscing about the past and apprehension about the new life they faced. It was not as easy to get up and go to class, as the brilliant sun and warm air tantalized and tempted everyone on campus.

Still . . . we made it through another year, one which we will never regret.

IT'S JUST PLAIN FUN!!

During the 83-84 school year, as well as in previous years, Troy State was fortunate to house organizations which demonstrated awareness to the needs of others through community fund raisers and other altruism projects. Each year the number of participants in charity works increased. The beneficiaries of these projects can be found on both a local and national level.

Locally, canned food drives for needy families proved to be successful for the brothers of Alpha Phi Alpha. In addition, both the Kappa Delta and Alpha Delta Pi sororities spent their spare time playing "Banana Bingo" and making friends with the residents of Pike Nursing Home.

The Adams Center Union Board sponsored "Let's Make A Deal For Charity" to raise money, while the HPER Club sponsored "Jump Rope for Heart," both for the American Heart Association.

Charitable projects were successful not only from a philanthropic perspective, but also because of the impact on the community. Students were able to make a difference and enjoy each other's company. As one student commented, "It's just fun!"

CLEP: AN ALTERNATIVE TO GENERAL STUDIES

There is a common expression among college students, "General studies . . . general boredom." Greg Chandler, a junior double majoring in business and computer science, found a way to escape this problem. His method was participating in the College Level Examination Program, or CLEP.

As a Senior in high school, Greg's guidance counselor advised him about the exams. After talking it over with his parents, Greg decided to take the full "battery," the entire testing series. His decision paid off, as he gained 36 hours of general studies credit.

The CLEP exams are comprehensively designed to test a person's overall knowledge of a particular subject. The costs of taking the tests are relatively low when compared to the costs of college tuition. Greg advised anyone interested to stop by TSU's counseling center for information. Already being registered in college should not inhibit a student from earning CLEP credit for courses he has not yet completed.

Many professors are against CLEP credit, but Greg felt that, in certain situations, being relieved of the extra hours required for basic courses was an asset. Having a double major involves more hours of study and more time in college. His CLEP hours alleviated some of this extra burden. However, Greg cautioned freshmen and sophomores who are undecided about a major not to follow the CLEP route. He said that general studies classes could possibly aid them in choosing a major.

Like taking the SAT or ACT, the CLEP exams are lengthy and require a lot of time. The battery Greg took called for an entire day of testing. He commented, "When the exams were over, I felt mentally drained, but it was worth it!"

SEARCH FOR TALENT WINNERS AT TSU!

In 1983 the WSFA-TV Search for Talent ended its fourth year with semi-finalists competing at the Alabama State Fair last October. Of the thirty semi-finalists, eight finalists were selected.

Two Troy State students, junior Starla Kelley and senior Michael Russell, were semi-finalists in the competition. Both frequented the campus' stages in various musical productions and concerts. Michael was a featured entertainer at several TSU pageants, while Miss Kelly held the leading role in last year's production of "Guys and Dolls." This past contest provided both with additional exposure and valuable experience.

First prize in the '83 Search for Talent was presented to a familiar and much admired TSU alumnae, Donna Reynolds. Donna, who has performed for Troy audiences for more than twelve years, received $1,000 in prize money as well as national exposure for her winning performance of "The American Trilogy."

As a Troy State student in the early 1970's, Donna majored in Broadcast Journalism, with a minor in music, physical education, and recreation. She has been an active alumnae, helping several music organizations on campus. In addition to the Search for Talent, one of Donna's highest honors was receiving honorary membership to the "Sound of the South."

Building Body and Mind

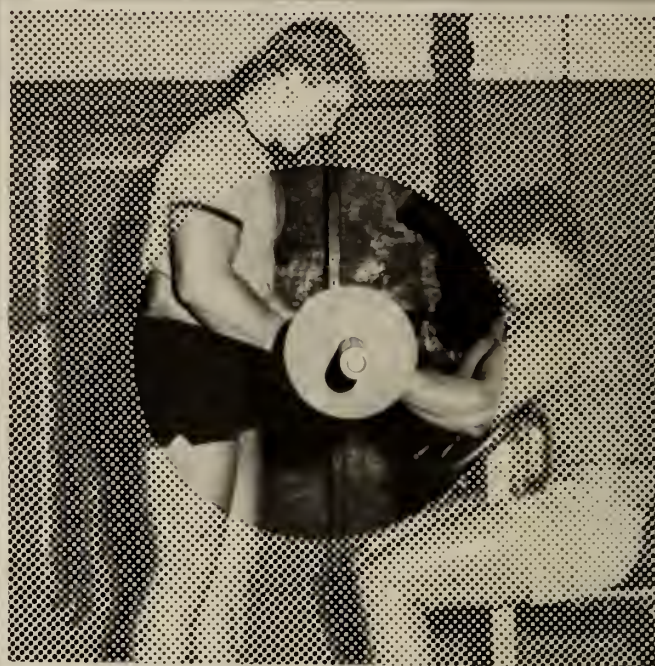

Body building has been a challenge to both the novice and the athlete. Locally, there has been an increased interest in weight lifting and physical fitness as evidenced by the formation of the TSU Body Building Club and the new fitness center in Troy.

Contests both on and off campus offered TSU students the opportunity to be rewarded for their diligence and hard work. Randy Johnson, a sophomore at Troy State, participated in several of these contests.

Randy, dissatisfied with his physique, decided to start lifting weights two years ago and has proved to be extremely successful in competition. Among the many contests he competed in, he placed third in the Teenage Alabama Contest and first in the teenage division of the Teenage and Junior Body Building Meet. Later, he entered the Junior division to expand his experience on stage and, much to Randy's surprise, he placed first overall in the contest.

Randy felt his biggest reward through weight lifting and competition is a sense of self-satisfaction and an increase of self-confidence. When not in class or in competition, Randy spent his spare time working at the Pike Fitness Center helping others in their attempts of building body and mind.

Skateboarding: An Old Past Time

Skateboarding, a favorite pastime just two years ago, has now become one of the many trendish fads to fade away. However, in its prime, skateboarding was a marvel sport which demanded much skill and many hours of practice. Its masters have now drifted on to other interests, but the knowledge that they were once a state or national champion leaves them with pride and with a fondness for the sport which will never die.

Clark Harrell, a sophomore at Troy State, was once a practiced, famous skateboard celebrity. He not only rode the board for fun, but also for competition. In 1980, Clark was the Alabama skateboard champion. In addition, he managed Flying Wheels Skatepark in Gadsden, Alabama when he was only sixteen years old.

When asked if he had lost interest in skateboarding, Clark was quick to reply, "No! I wouldn't say I've lost interest. There is just no where to ride in Troy." Clark did admit that he has set his ambitions higher, for now he has visions of flying jets, something he feels the ROTC will enable him to achieve.

EXERCISE CAN BE FUN!?!

Contrary to Garfield's popular comment, "I might as well exercise. I'm in a bad mood anyway!" many Troy students discovered that exercise can be fun. Not only does it help in achieving and maintaining physical fitness, but also in releasing frustration and easing mental fatigue.

Tammie Moore, a senior nursing major, led an extremely successful aerobics program during winter and spring quarters of 1984. Sponsored by the Association of Nursing Students, this one hour exercise class was free to everyone. One evening it attracted as many as thirty-eight participants.

Tammie concentrated on problem areas such as the waist, hips, and thighs, while at the same time took care to lead a thorough work out. Exercising to the popular tunes of pop artists Michael Jackson and Irene Cara, she held daily classes on Mondays through Thursdays.

As one of Tammie's faithful exercisers described, "The class was so challenging, when I left I felt as though I had accomplished something monumental!"

CBS Comes to Troy

While the crowd at TSU's 1983 Homecoming game was able to watch the action against UNA live, thousands of others were able to view the match-up in the comfort of their own homes. This convenience was made possible by CBS's regional televised coverage.

Much work as well as a few changes went into the preparations for the presentation. The originally planned kick-off time of 2:00 p.m. was rescheduled for 11:35 a.m. The cameramen and crewmen had the film rolling as the clock began counting down the first quarter.

The CBS crew consisted of three cameramen, two audio specialists, and two announcers. In addition, eight TSU students were hired to help in the production. They performed such jobs as statistician and production assistant.

Everyone involved was extremely pleased with the coverage. Fred Davis, TSU's chairman of the Athletic Policy Committee, commented on the crew's friendliness and flexibility. Head football coach Chan Gailey added, "It was great exposure for the players."

Though Troy did not enjoy a Homecoming victory in '83, the presence of CBS added much excitement to the festivities. It was definitely a memorable experience for the players and the fans alike.

Alums Score High in Miss America Pageant

Pamela Rigas
Miss Ohio 1983

Moira Kaye
Miss Tennessee 1983

Two Troy State alumnae, Pamela Rigas and Moira Kaye, found Atlantic City, New Jersey a "dream come true" at the 1983 Miss America Pageant.

Pamela Rigas, reigning as Miss Ohio 1983, was chosen as 4th Runner-up to Miss America. A 1982 graduate of Troy State University with a major in Business Administration and Accounting, Pamela continued her education through the University of Cincinnati's law school. Receiving a scholarship for being Ohio's Junior Miss 1978, Ms. Rigas later served as the 1980 Homecoming Queen for TSU. As 4th Runner-Up to Miss America, Pamela's scholarships included $5000 as a finalist and $1000 as a swimsuit preliminary winner.

Miss Tennessee 1983, Moira Kaye, was recognized with a $2000 Talent Scholarship for her vocal presentation. A Magna Cum Laude graduate of Troy State, Moira majored in Broadcast Journalism. Ms. Kaye served as Tennessee's Junior Miss 1978 and reigned as Miss Troy State University, a preliminary to the Miss Alabama Pageant, in 1981.

As Miss Tennessee, Moira travelled throughout Tennessee and adjoining states as a good-will ambassador to preliminary pageants, civic clubs, charitable events, and commercial promotional functions.

Lebanon: A National Crisis

During the last months of 1983, America felt anguish and grief over the loss of 229 Marines in Lebanon. The killings were the result of a massive explosion inacted by a lone driver on a suicidal mission. The terrorist forced his way past the American guards and crashed through the doors of a large building in which 310 Marines slept. Only eighty-one survived the resulting explosion.

The Lebanon conflict

erupted into a major crisis. Some Americans, seeing another Vietnam in the making, began to question the purpose of the forces in the Middle East. Others saw that the attempt to discourage America's involvement only meant that the peace-keeping force was accomplishing too much in the eyes of the opposition; therefore, the Marines appeared a valuable asset and should remain in Lebanon.

Amer Masri

West Bank of Jordan
Bus. Management Major

I believe it would be much better if the American Marines withdrew from Lebanon. Because Lebanon has many different religious and political factions, much turmoil and dissension is created. Lebanon needs stability and peace, but before this can happen, leaders in the countries have to sit down, talk, and work out many differences ... an impossible task with so many conflicting beliefs.

Robert Carpenter

Sneads, FL
Criminal Justice Major

I think we should be involved in Lebanon due to the fact that we need to keep peace and hold back Communist aggression. Being a world power, we must stay in order to be effective.

It makes me mad that Congress is so unsupportive of Reagan. He needs more support.

Dr. Emma Norris

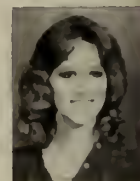

Montgomery, AL
Asst. Professor, English

My first reaction to the Lebanon involvement is the fear of another Vietnam. But, the real question is if we can afford the loss of lives or risks in keeping a pax Americana all over the world.

America has to maintain a delicate balance between helping other nations and getting caught in military conflicts that are not our own. Conflicts in the Middle East go back so far and have been so destructive that an outsider such as America cannot understand.

University Student Publications Board

The University Student Publications Board (USPB) serves as a policy setting Board whose chief responsibility is to exercise supervision over the Tropic, the Palladium, and any other University publication the President of the University places under the Board's jurisdiction.

The USPB promotes the highest standards of journalism in the operation of student publications under its jurisdiction. The Board also ensures that those publications are responsive to the concerns and needs of the University community. Also the Board assures that these publications operate in the spirit of fairness, decency, truthfulness, and accuracy including the correction of errors in factual reporting previously disseminated.

The USPB assures the publications freedom from censorship and the editor of those publications the right to develop their own editorial policies and news coverage. The USPB serves a management board. The Board selects, employs, and terminates the editors and business managers of the Tropic, the Palladium, and any other University publications placed under its jurisdiction. Similarly, the Board also supports those editors and managers against arbitrary suspension and removal because of student, faculty, administrative or public disapproval of editorial policy or content.

Palladium Staff

The Palladium Staff was composed of many people all of which came from various fields of study. Each came together to work, to study, and to play in order to produce this book. This book reflects the views and talents of each staffer. Each member of the Palladium Staff played a vital role in the completion of the Volume of the Palladium.

After countless hours of classes, labs and midnight study sessions, practical jokes and "pity parties," romances and broken hearts, national championships and "Whup Jax State" rallies, summer break arrives. It seems only yesterday that we were moving into the dorm. Time seems to pass so quickly.

This year has definitely been a "learning experience." College has taught us much about living. College helped us become mature adults without ever forgetting how to play.

1983-84 . . . one year along life's journey, yet a special year filled with special memories.

Though time was frozen for you to play with, to enjoy, to dream about, it was merely postponed.

As it moves on, so must you. On to bigger and better things. On to brighter tomorrows and newer dreams.

Hold on to your dreams, for if they die, life is a broken-winged bird which cannot fly. Dreams build goals, and goals build futures.

But, remember your past dreams as well. For without them, you would not be where you are today.

Our pictures and words captured a small reflection of your dreams and made them last. They merely need your imagination and memories to come alive. So, enjoy. . . (and keep dreaming) now and forever, for time remains in your hands.

RE: Completion of 1984 Palladium

As another era of university history is completed, the Palladium Staff brings to you our interpretation of this academic year. The events of this historical year are recorded in the 1984 Palladium. As one opens this book and thumbs through the pages, memories will be unraveled and past dreams envisioned. The events of this year will have passed into memories that will be recalled in later years. We, the Palladium Staff, hope we have captured some of the memorable events of this year in this seventy-third volume of the Palladium.

It has been a privilege for me to edit this volume. I gained much from this experience, including the privilege of knowing and working with many wonderful and dedicated people. I wish to express my most sincere thanks to each staff member, especially Charlie, Suellen, Sandra, and Leslie who were my section editors. A special thanks goes to Ray Bendall, my associate editor, for all of his help. I would also like to express my appreciation to Ms. Jacqueline Smith, our advisor, for her helpfulness and patience throughout the year.
